TALK ANOTHER STORY ON LEE COURT HOUSE

Suggested As Best Solution of Question of New Jail

The building committee of the Lee county board of supervisors took the initial move at yesterday afternoon's session to outline a plan for the erection of either a new county jail or the repair of the age worn structure, which has been condemned repeatedly as being unsafe and unsanitary for the housing of the county's prisoners. The building committee introduced a recommendation which placed the matter squarely before the board members.

In the recommendation the committee pointed out that the present county jail is in bad condition and unsafe for the keeping of prisoners. It outlined the approximate expense of repairing the old stone structure at between $16,000 and $20,000. In bringing the oft-discussed proposition before the board, the committee favored the disposition of the county property on which the present jail now stands on Third street and Hennepin avenue and adding another floor to the court house building which would serve both as a county jail and sheriff's living quarters. By such action it was outlined that a large amount could be realized from the sale of the old property to apply on the addition.

Roof Needs Repairs

The recommendation also called the attention of the board to the roof on the court house which has resulted in the expenditure of $1,800 in two years time for repairs and is now in need of further improvement to prevent water leaking into offices on the third floor. The action further urged the board taking some definite action at the December session which is now in progress.

Supervisor Burhenn, member of the building committee addressed the board after the reading of the recommendation and explained the action had been taken by the committee merely for the purpose of placing the proposition squarely before the board.

"The building committee realizes that this is no small undertaking and this recommendation has been offered in order to secure the sentiment of the board members," he said.

Supervisor D. H. Spencer told the board that the entertained no selfish motive with regard to the building of a new jail, but added that for years grand juries had been recommending changes in the jail property and that the present structure had been repeatedly condemned by inspectors as being both unsafe for the custody of prisoners and with regard to sanitary conditions.

"The members of this board know that the present county jail structure is inadequate both with regards to safety and sanitation," the Dixon supervisor stated.

Sheriff Called Upon

Sheriff Ward Miller was called upon to address the board and related to outline of proceedings as stated in last evening's Telegraph with reference to the repairing of the present building. He told the board that a new heating system was needed at the present time and that the cost of repairs was growing each year because of the antiquated, unsafe and unsanitary condition of the jail. Sheriff Miller then told the board that through the activities of his office, more than $69,000 had been turned into the County Treasury during the three years of his incumbency in office, which amount would pay for the building of a new jail structure.

Some of the board members question the legality of building another story to the court house to provide a compact system of jail and sheriff's residence, and Supervisor William Rose stated that the building committee had made a thorough investigation and found that there were no legal entanglements insofar as the original deed, dating 1840 was concerned.

Supervisor James Buckley of Dixon was the first to take a negative stand toward the recommendation and urged its being tabled, but his motion was lost when no second was received.

Tabled For Study

Supervisor William Brueker of China township presented a motion in which he asked that the recommendation be tabled for the consideration and careful study of the board members to be acted upon later at this meeting, which was seconded and carried.

The plans as originally outlined by the building committee cover the repairs to the present jail structure

THREATS OF VIOLENCE IN ARKANSAS MURDER HEARING AS START OF TRIAL NEARS

Sheriff Has Girl and Father, Complainants, Guarded

BY DUKE MERRETT
United Press Special Correspondent

Mountain View, Ark., Dec. 10—(UP)—Threats of the lash came today from the wooded fastness of the Ozark Hills against one of the principals in the Connie Franklin "murder mystery" and caused Sheriff Sam Johnson to circle the mountain courthouse here with an armed guard.

"You'll get another dose of what you got last March," was the ominous warning sent to Charles Ruminer, father of the 17-year-old mountain girl who first told the law that her finance, Franklin, had been tortured, mutilated and burned alive on a hillside funeral pyre.

Whipped Last March

Ruminer was whipped last March 7 by a band of night riders just two days before Franklin is supposed to have been cremated.

Sheriff Johnson a 250 pound mountaineer peace officer, today escorted Ruminer from his ramshackle cabin home to the court house here where next Monday five men go to trial on charges of murdering Franklin, although a man calling himself Franklin has reappeared and probably will be an interested spectator at the trial. Tiller Ruminer denies that the returned man is her former finance.

Ruminer will be quartered in the court house during the trial and a heavy guard will attend him throughout the trial and as long after that as is necessary, Sheriff Johnson said.

Today's was not the first threat from the mysterious night riders of the hills. A threat against her life, Tiller Ruminer, the girl in the case, said, sealed her lips for eight months about the nocturnal attack on her and Franklin.

Girl Under Guard

It was only upon the promise of protection that she told her story to Sheriff Johnson. Since her story to the grand jury, Tiller also has been under guard at the Sheriff's home.

Questiond again today Tiller and her father were more positive than ever that this man who has become known as the "mystery man" is not Connie Franklin, 23-year-old illiterate farm hand Tiller swears she saw murdred.

The only persons to identify "Franklin positively have been the accused men, their relatives and defense attorneys. Some mothers have said he "looks a little like Franklin," and some have flatly accused him of being an impostor.

Sheriff Sam Johnson, whose efforts resulted in the indictments against the five men, and Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson are now outspoken in their belief that the return of "Franklin" is a defense hoax.

While speculation as to his identity continued the main topic of conversation here today, "Franklin remained in seclusion at the home of S. H. Greenway, father of Herman Greenway, one of the accused men under $1,000 bond to appear as a witness at the trial of the five men scheduled to begin in Circuit Court here Monday.

APPLE A DAY

Pontiac, Mich. — An apple a day might keep the doctor away, but when you steal them they don't keep you out of jail. Wilfred Smith, 18, stole five of them. He was brought before Justice Henry H. Harpster. "Maybe a day an apple will keep the thieves away," Harpster said, and Smith got five days in jail.

Total	$129.00

Some fine donations swelled the Goodfellow fund over the week-end bringing the total to $129. The Dixon Carpenters Union sent $10, the J. C. Penney store in Dixon sent $25, Miss M. M. Winter gave $10, Frank Nicholas gave $5, and Billie Thompson, 10 years old, brought in $1.

All these donations mean that Christmas time will be happier for some more little poor kids in Dixon. However, the letters from poor, distracted mothers asking Goodfellow help for their little tots, are coming in faster than the checks.

Unfillable orders to Santa Claus ae piling up and unless the Goodfellows of Dixon come to the rescue there will be a lot of sadly disappointed youngsters on Christmas day.

Help them out, you Goodfellows.

Publishers Combat Newsprint Boost

New York, Dec. 10 —(AP)—Resistance of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association to a proposed increase of $5 a ton in the price of newsprint paper moved in two directions today.

One was a decision to inform paper manufacturers that no justification was seen for the increase. The other was a resolution requesting the paper committee and the board of directosr to take up with Federal authorities the question of possible redress through Federal government action.

Plans to combat the increase from $55 to $60 a ton, proposed by Canadian paper manufactures who are members of the newly formed Newsprint Institute, took form yesterday at a special convention attended by more than 100 newspaper publishers from various parts of the United States and Canada.

Speakers were unanimous in their denunciation of the increase and various lines of action were proposed including action under the Clayton Act and the Sherman anti-trust act. None of these proposals was formally acted upon.

Nine Killed, Forty Hurt In Rail Crash

Brussels, Dec. 10—(AP)—Nine persons were killed and 40 injured when a workman's train left the rails today at the entrance to Namur station.

The train had left Brussels for Alon and was descending a steep incline when the brakes failed to act. The train rushed at great speed toward Namur station, near where its engine left the rails, the coaches piling on top.

Help was immediately available. The wrecked coaches were lifted by cranes and the injured persons removed and taken to the hospital.

WILL PRESENT PLAY

The South Dixon Community Club has arranged to present a play and old fashioned dance at the Woodman hall in this city Saturday evening, to which the public is invited. The club does much charity work with the funds it raises in this manner, and the coming event, which will start at 8 o'clock and to which ladies will be admitted free, is worthy liberal patronage.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

POLICE FOUND WATCH

Officer Clarence Seagren is holding a wrist watch which was lost on the streets Saturday, for the owner to call at the police station and identify it.

OPENS NEW MARKET

Thomas J. Harvey is opening a Home Market at 527 Depot avenue, it was announced today. He has had seven years of experience in the managing of a market at St. Louis and in his new Dixon location will specialize in the handling of the best of meats.

MAYOR VAUGHAN BETTER

Mayor Fred N. Vaughan of Amboy submitted to a serious operation at the Amboy public hospital Saturday and his many friends and acquaintances will be pleased to know of his very promising convalescence. He will be confined to the hospital for several weeks. Mayor Vaughan is also president of the First National bank of Amboy.

JUBILEE EDITION

The Sterling Gazette yesterday issued an exceptionally fine 160-page edition in celebration of its Diamond Jubilee. The paper is replete with fine illustrations and entertaining stories, reflecting great credit on all who had part in its preparation. The Telegraph adds its congratulations to Editor D. W. Grandon and his able force.

CATCH SILVER FOX

A fine specimen of about three-quarter grown silver fox, ran into the garage of the Public Supply Company Saturday afternoon and hid behind some storage goods. The station attendant observed the animal dash into the doorway and called the attention of C. R. Leake. The investigation disclosed Reynard's hiding place and after a time he was captured and caged. Several silver fox breeders in this vicinity have viewed the valuable animal and are at a loss to know where he came from.

IN POLICE COURT

Lincoln "Lucky" Shontz was fined $100 and costs by Justice Grover W. Gehant this morning on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor and in default of the amount was sent to the county jail. He was arrested last night by Officer Bohnstiel.

Elmer Roberts, arrested Saturday night was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated when arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis and in default of the amount was sent to the county jail.

SETTLED IN WEST

Word from Mr. and Mrs. Ed Franks, who are now nicely settled in Pasadena, Cal., and who write for The Telegraph to be sent them, states that they like it there very much. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller accompanied the Franks on their journey and both Mr. Franks and Mr. Miller are working. Mr. Franks is employed by George Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Schuler of Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Franks expect to return to their home in Dixon in June.

STORE IS IMPROVED

Extensive improvements have been made at the Howell hardware store. Some weeks before his fatal illness, Mr. Howell outlined a program of improvements for the interior of the store which has been completely carried out. New show cases have been installed and panel wall cases constructed where the large line of hardware can be placed before the customers. The public has been invited to visit the store and view the fine new improvements.

Cigar Maker Tells Of Teacher's Death

Atlanta, Dec. 10—(AP)—The story of Elwell L. Hardegree, a cigar maker, who walked in the office of the Atlanta Constitution last night and said he killed Professor Alexander Hamilton Johnson of Hartwell, Ga., during the convention of the National Education Association here last June, offered a solution for a mystery that has puzzled police for nearly six months.

Hardegree said he and Johnson had been drinking and that he beat the teacher to death with a brick after the Professor attacked him while they were riding in the latter's car.

"We were drunk and got to fighting about who would drive," said Hardegree. "I was defending my own life."

TRAPPED WHEN BLAZE BROKE OUT ON STAGE

Most of Victims Were Studio Employees; Actors Escaped

New York, Dec. 10—(AP)—Trapped in a blazing motion picture studio in Upper Manhattan today nine persons lost their lives.

The identities of all the dead was not immediately learned but it was known that four of them were women. They were all believed to be from New York City.

Over Ten Injured.

Ten or more other persons were seriously injured, either by the flames or by jumping to safety from the windows of the three story brick building.

One hundred persons were in the studio, located at Park Avenue and 134th Street and used jointly by the Manhattan Studios, Inc., and the Pathe Motion Picture Exchange, shortly before 10 o'clock today.

The stage was set in the rear of the first floor of the building, preparatory to filming a miniature review, titled the "Black and White Revue." The orchestra leader and his fourteen musicians were waiting for the signal to start playing. The cameras were ready.

On the floor above about thirty chorus girls, many of them not yet dressed in their scanty stage clothes, were waiting their calls.

CHICAGO BROKER'S HOME AND STADIUM ARE UNDER GUARD

Officers Fear Attempt To Bomb Them After One Is Found

Chicago, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Both the Lake Forest home of James Norris, broker, and the $7,000,000 Chicago Stadium on the west side, were under special police guard today, the result of an unsuccessful attempt to bomb Norris' home Sunday.

Norris is a stockholder in the Stadium Corporation.

A dynamite bomb, its fuse half burned, was found by the Norris butler under the dining table just as the Norris family was about to sit down to Sunday evening dinner. The fuse had been extinguished, apparently by the brushing of a curtain, blown against it by the breeze from an open window.

News of the attempted bombing was not divulged, but both police and private detectives were called in immediately. Five officers patrolled the Norris estate last night, and a special police detail was assigned to the Stadium in the belief the attempt upon Norris' life may have had some connection with the recent activities of the Stadium directors.

Open Window Salvation.

Police said the bomb was placed by some one who found the dining room window conveniently unlocked. The bomber's failure to close the window defeated the attempt. Had the bomb exploded, police said it would have killed all in the room and have wrecked the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Strotz were dinner guests of the Norris family Sunday night. Because of this guards also have been placed over property in which Strotz is interested.

The bomb was made of an 18-inch stick of dynamite, fused. When the butler found it, he called his employer. Norris and Strotz immersed the bomb in water, and called for assistance.

BARBER'S HOME BOMBED.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Two events will make Monday night stand out in the memory of Charles Piazza, a barber. First, a child was born to his wife, and second, his house was bombed.

Piazza has just returned from the hospital where Mrs. Piazza was, when the bomb exploded. He could not explain the attack, which was the 105th bombing of the year in Chicago. The damage was not great.

ROCKFORD AUTHORITIES IN HUNT FOR MOTIVE BACK OF MURDER OF YOUNG TEACHER

Confronted With Conflicting Details of Slain Woman

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 10—(AP)—In search of a motive for the slaying of Miss Cordelia Gummersheimer, attractive school teacher, found beaten to death in her apartment, authorities today were confronted with conflicting details picturing the woman at once as a matter of fact school marm and a woman of secret loves.

As her friends in Rockford knew her, Miss Gummersheimer was a teacher devoted to her work, head of the foreign language department at Rockford high school; a woman who taught both day and night and whose diversion consisted mainly of an occasional evening at bridge with women friends.

Loved by Two Men

To the authorities the teacher presented another picture—a woman admired by two men neither of who knew of the other and each of whom protested his love for her in frequent letters, found carefully kept in her kitchenette apartment.

All this served only to perplex the investigators, who started out with a piece of gas pipe as the only clue to the killer. The pipe was found on the teacher's bed alongside her body after three of her friends had police enter the apartment Sunday night when she failed to keep a dinner engagement. Later a khaki knit army sweater was found in the flat, but what, if any, connection it had with the slaying, no one ventured to say.

Dentist Still Held

While an eccentric dentist, Dr. Floyd Leach, was still in custody because he had been seen in the neighborhood of the teacher's home the night she was killed, authorities said they had not evidence to link him with the crime.

States Attorney William D. Knight acknowledged he was baffled by the slaying, unable to find even a remote motive for the crime. There was no robbery, the teacher apparently had not been assaulted, she had no known enemies, she evidently feared nothing for she kept her window, opening onto a rear porch, opened while she slept. It was through the window the slayer probably entered and left.

One of the teachers correspondents, Glen Wiseman, is in Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the other, Roy Schribner, in New York.

Stanley M. Doyle, former National Commander of the 40 and 8 and defender of American Legionnaires in several important trials at Chicago was here today to seek the release of Dr. Leach by habeas corpus proceedings. He planned to file a petition before Circuit Judge A. E. Fisher.

A new angle was supplied today by a fellow school teacher of Miss Gummersheimer who told police the young woman had been annoyed frequently of late by a student in her night school class who had followed her home several times. The officers were seeking the youth to learn of his whereabouts the night of the slaying.

Alleged "Perfume Slugger" Caught

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 10—(AP)—Confident they have captured the "perfumed slugger" who terrorized a section of the Pacific northwest last year, Rook county authorities today awaited the arrival of a Seattle detective to return a man believed to be Lloyd Fathers, 25.

Through pictures, Sheriff Charles Garey said he had established that Fathers, arrested here yesterday, is the man who attacked and attempted to harm more than a score of women.

The Sheriff's office scouted reports that the man was in Rockford, Ill., at the time a high school teacher was slain there. They did believe, however, that he was connected with an automobile theft in Urbana, Ill.

Seek Delay For Wee Willie Doody

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 10—(UP)—Request for a stay of the electrocution of Willie Doody, notorious midget bandit, was filed with the state Supreme Court here today, pending his appeal of his conviction in Chicago of the charge of murdering Charles Levy, Chief of Police at Berwyn.

William Scott Stewart, famous criminal lawyer, personally filed the appeal which says Doody was convicted on prejudicial evidence and declares that the court erred in its instructions to the jury.

Doody was sentenced to die this Friday but filing of an appeal automatically stayed the carrying out of the sentence until the Supreme Court has passed on it.

GUARDSMEN IN COMMAND TWO MINING TOWNS

Strike Of N. M. U. Workers Leads To Call For Militiamen

Kincaid, Ill., Dec. 10—(AP)—Machine guns, with National Guardsmen at the sights, today commanded the approaches to the four Peabody Coal Company mines where National Miners Union members are on strike.

The mines, numbers 7, 8 9, and 58, which ordinarily employ 3400 men, had only a few score report for work today, and W. C. Argust, General Superintendent, said it was doubtful if any of the mines would be able to operate.

Fifty state militiamen were on duty at each mine. They patroled the properties, challenging each person who sought to enter and permitting to pass only those few who came to work.

Roads Picketed

The roads leading to the mines were filled with pickets of the N. M. U. Automobiles bringing miners to work were stopped. In many cases the machines were forced to one side and halted. Others were compelled to turn around and return to Taylorville where many of the miners live.

There were no displays of violence during the first few hours of the morning, although the pickets were in large numbers and permitted none to pass. Hundreds of miners congregated at the mine entrances, but there was no concentrated attempt to override the pickets.

Freeman F. Thompson of Springfield, spokesman for N. M. U. stated the strike would not be called off until the N. M. U. demands had been met by the operators and "the United Mine Workers of America thrown into the ash can."

To Arrest Agitators

The state troops made no attempt to interfere with the picketing, centering their efforts on defense of company property. There were no indications that any hostile display was contemplated against the properties themselves, the present purpose of the N. M. U. apparently being to attract members of the U. M. W. to their ranks.

Thompson was placed under guard at mine No. 7 by militiamen under Capt. Mont Plaisted of Springfield and Sheriff Dunbar was to arrest him formally later on charges of inciting a disturbance.

John Hampsted of Springfield, a union organizer, with a companion, tried to interfere with Thompson's arrest but they were driven off.

The four mines of the Peabody group here normally employ about

HIS ACTIONS SUNDAY MORN INVESTIGATED

Wm. McReynolds Held By Order of Prosecutor Today

William McReynolds, aged 27, colored car washer, is held at the police station upon the orders of State's Attorney Mark C. Keller as the result of the investigation into the brutal assault upon Clarence Shults, night station attendant at the Riverview garage about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. It was reported today that startling developments resulted last evening when several negroes who had been present and participated in a crap game at the Nemoran Pierre home on East River street late Saturday night and until the early hours of Sunday morning were questioned.

McReynolds was brought to the police station Sunday for questioning and again last night. It was reported today that he told several conflicting stories and as the result State's Attorney Keller was called into the investigation. Shortly after the prosecutor's arrival at the police station, he ordered McReynolds' detention while the investigation was being continued today.

Spots on Clothing

Spots on the clothing worn by McReynolds Saturday night were to be turned over to a chemist for analysis today. Chief J. D. Van Bibber stated this morning. The Chief was prepared to leave for Chicago at noon with the sledge hammer which was used in the assault, to have blood stains examined by an expert to determine the presence of finger prints. The pinch bar used in the robbery of the cash drawer at the Horton garage was also to be examined by the expert.

The investigation conducted by Chief Van Bibber yesterday revealed the fact that a crap game was in progress at the Nemoran Pierre home on East River street Saturday night in which several men took part. McReynolds took part in the game and lost his money, it is said. He left the house on three different occasions, it was reported; the first time, claiming to have gone to his home and to have borrowed money from his wife, and returning to the Pierre home, re-entered the game. He soon lost this money and left a second time, returning in about 30 minutes, paying Mrs. Pierre four dollars, which he had borrowed from her and lost in the game, and again playing.

Displayed Money

From the police investigation, it was reported that McReynolds paid Mrs. Pierre $4 and upon renewing his activity in the crap game, displayed considerable currency, among which was a ten dollar bill. Several who were in the game are said to have told this story to Chief Van Bibber and to have said that in a short time McReynolds lost his money and the third time left the house stating that he would be back in a few minutes. Some time elapsed and McReynolds returned, it was reported, but did not re-enter the crap game. He remained a short while, then awoke his brother-in-law and presumably left for home. Those participating in the game are said to have estimated McReynolds' losses at about $35.

Prisoner In Denial

During the questioning, McReynolds is said to have denied any knowledge of the brutal attack upon the Riverview garage attendant, and explains the stains on his clothing as being iodine stains. Fred Turner, said to be a Cedar Rapids, Iowa negro, won the bulk of the money in the crap game and early Sunday morning presumably left Dixon for Cedar Rapids in response to a long distance telephone call appraising him of the serious illness of his aged mother. Turner and a Rockford Negro, who was also active in the game have not been questioned by the police.

It was also reported today that McReynolds after being questioned the first time Sunday, told others who were present with him in the crap game, to tell a story of his going to Sterling to attend a party and on his return, experiencing tire trouble which delayed his arrival in Dixon until about daylight Sunday morning. This rumor was also being carefully checked by the police today. All of the Negroes who have been brought to the police station for questioning, are said to have admitted McReynolds lost about $35 and left the Pierre home on three different occasions, and that on his return the second time he had considerable money in his possession. McReynolds was formerly employed by the removal of the old stone cells and the installation of modern jail equipment on the men's department. Later, the committee favored adding another story to the court house which would serve both as a jail and sheriff's residence, thus completely compacting all of the county departments under one roof and thus save the long continued expense of repairs to the court houseroof.

At the outset of the afternoon session two applications for blind pensions were submitted to the board, both of which were referred to the judiciary committee to report at this session.

Other Accomplishments

Chairman Walter Ortgiesen invited the members of the board to have their picture taken in a group this afternoon at the north entrance to the court house.

A communication from County Superintendent of Highway Fred Leake for authority to turn over to the county highwy fund the sum of $89.20 was granted.

The road and bridge committee submitted a report for bridge repair work on the structure on the Alto-Reynolds township line. The third quarterly report of the road and bridge committee was also read and received

Sheriff Ward Miller invited the members of the board to attend a dinner to be given at the Elks club Thursday evening at 6 o'clock as guests of the sheriff's forces and the county bank guards, which was unanimously acceped.

A communication was read from the state highway department authorizing the addiition to state aid system, a stretch of road connecting the village of West Brooklyn to be added to state aid route 6.

The requisition for a new typewriter in the office of State's Attorney Mark C. Kellre was referred to the purchasing committee.

J. A. Edwards was named by the county board to serve as a judge of election in the second Amboy precinct to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Charles Rabbitt.

TRAPPED WHEN BLAZE BROKE OUT ON STAGE

Started In Back Drop.

There was a flash from the backdrop and flames and black smoke rolled across the stage.

Immediately all was in confusion. Men and women fought to escape from the flames, which almost instantly were sweeping through the whole building.

While studio employes sought to check the flames with apparatus at hand, others turned in alarms, which brought all available apparatus from Upper Manhattan and the Bronx to the scene. A fireboat sent its arching streams of water from its place in the nearby Harlem river.

Police reserves and ambulances began arriving but there was nothing that could be done to help those trapped in the building.

Bodies Near Exit.

For over an hour the fire raged and then, as the flames died down, the nine bodies were found, most of them just inside the 134st Street entrance to the building a step or two from life and safety. Although several of the bodies were badly burned most of those who lost their lives had died from suffocation. Two priests from a nearby church administered the last rites.

A temporary hospital was set up in a factory across the street from the studio and there the injured, most of them suffering from burns, were given emergency treatment and taken to hospitals or their homes.

It was not known at first whether the dead were actors or studio employes but it was believed most of them belonged in the latter category, having stayed behind in a futile attempt to check the flames until it was too late to escape.

Was No Explosion.

John C. Flinn, Vice President of the Pathe Company, was seated in his office on the second floor with his secretary, Frances Walsh, when he heard the cry of fire. Opening the door he saw carpenters, scene shifters, cameramen, musicians, actors and actresses rushing toward the exits as the studio filled with flame and smoke. He said he closed the door and escorted Miss Walsh to a balcony on the Park Avenue side where they remained until the arrival of the firemen, who took them down a ladder.

Mr. Flinn said this was the second day of filming the picture and that everything was in readiness for the cast to begin work. He said there was no explosion.

When the bodies were carried to the street, several of them burned almost beyond recognition, the casting director was called on to make such identifications as he could. He made the identifications of four of the bodies.

Soon Under Control

One of the bodies was that of a female impersonator. His body was little burned and he apparently had died of suffocation.

The flowing dresses and vividly colored cheeks and lips made an incongruous picture as firemen carried the body to a waiting ambulance. It was not identified.

An hour and a half after the fire started it was brought under control and an incomplete search of the ruins revealed no more bodies, leading to the belief that all except nine had escaped.

Harry Ford of the Bronx, master electrician of the studio, denied to Assistant Fire Marshal Sam Willis that the fire was caused by an electrical flash. He explained that the curtain was seen to flare as it was lowered but that no current, beyond that of the regular lighting, was on at the time and the cameras were not yet working.

GUARDSMEN IN COMMAND TWO MINING TOWNS

3400 men. Only fifty could reach No. 7 today. It is said that 300 men at No. 8, at Tovey, announced they were willing to work and had no fear of pickets, but would not work under a militia guard.

Six hundred men, women and children gathered in Kincaid this morning to determine their course of action. They represented the forces barred from the mines by National Miners Union pickets, and were meeting still as members of the United Mine Workers.

MILITIA AT TAYLORVILLE.

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Today's dawn found strike-troubled Taylorville under protection of the military. National Guardsmen were quartered on one side of the court house in the middle of the square, and mine workers were congregated on the other.

Women and children of miners employed at No. 7 were told to gather at mine No. 58, which is in Taylorville. This was taken as a precautionary measure in case trouble should develop between the striking members of the N. M. U. and members of the United Mine Workers of America.

Call for Troops.

An Infantry company, a troop of Cavalry, a Headquarters unite and a Service company arrived during the night in response to the request for help by county officers. Major O. J. McMackin of Salem was in charge.

The court house stands in the center of the public square. On one side the Headquarters and Service units had established themselves. The other was chosen by the miner-pickets as their gathering place. There was no disorder in the before-dawn hours, the pickets driving away four and five in a car, without molestation from the military.

To Maintain Order.

No official would discuss what action the National Guard intended to take at No. 7 to preserve order. It was indicated no attempt would be made to interfere with picketing so long as it was properly done.

Approximately 700 miners failed to appear for work yesterday, and the general sentiment early today was that additional hundreds would refrain from work today.

The National Guard units here are C Company, 130th Infantry, from Springfield, commanded by Capt. Wirt Butler; Troop F, 106th Cavalry, from Springfield; Headquarters Company from Decatur commanded by Captain C. J. Meacham; and a Service unit from Decatur under Capt. Omer Davenport.

Equitable Income Tax As Farm Aid

Chicago, Dec. 10—(UP)—General property taxes must be abolished in favor of equitable assessments upon incomes if the American farmer is to take his place in the sun, Frank O. Lowden, ex-Governor of Illinois, told 5,000 members of the American Farm Bureau Federation today.

He attacked the general property tax as "unduly burdening all real estates and bearing especially heavy upon farm lands."

111 Known Dead In European Storms

London, Dec. 10—(AP)—Numerous ships which have been battered by the terrific storm which has been pounding the British Isles and the continental seaboard for the past week today began limping into port showing evidences of the rough weather.

The great storm this afternoon seemed to have spent its force and comparative calm prevailed over the stricken area. There was warnings however, that further disturbances were likely to approach from the Atlantic.

Meanwhile at least 111 lives are known to have been lost on sea and on land while reports from France said it was feared the storm had taken a total of 71 French seamen.

In all 69 ships were wrecked or damaged.

At present the chief worry so far as Great Britain was concerned was the extent of the flooding of the Thames and other rivers which have been rising steadily for the past week.

SECRETS OF THE PINES

THE pines have secrets they tell none,
As they choir low, from sun to sun.
The bluebells grow about their roots;
In fairy fun
The east wind toots its little flutes,
Now high, now low, the measures run
Beneath their shoots.

Cones drop below their mellow fruits,
And passing crows air old disputes.
The pines rise boldly they have won
A glory high.
And slender still on blue-capped hill,
No turmoil their rich scene pollutes,
Lost in the sky.

Cut the bacon strips in two and wrap around the oysters, holding in place with a tooth pick Arrange on a shallow pan and broil until well browned on all sides. Serve on a warm platter, garnish with the parsley and lemon quarters. Serve at once.

Tomato Jelly Salad

2 cups canned tomatoes
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
4 celery leaves
1 slice of onion
4 whole cloves
1-4 teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves
1-2 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1-2 cup cold water

Soak the gelatin in the 1-2 cup of cold water. Mix the rest of the ingredients and cook slowly in a covered pan for 20 minutes. Thoroughly strain. Heat to the boiling point and pour over the gelatin mixture. Stir until the gelatin has dissoived. Pour into small molds, which have been rinsed out of cold water. Chill until stiff. Health Seal Sale Does Great Good

The Health Seal Sale is now in full swing, and we hope that Dixon and vicinity will make its quota this year.

See that child, pale and undernourished, with dark rings under its prtty eyes— it's parents cannot afford to buy the pure rich milk in sufficient quantity to supply the proper food values to the thin little body. Oh yes, that is the same child six weeks later—its cheeks are a delicate pink, the bright eyes are still brighter—the real exuberance of childhood is in her walk and every movement—for the good people of Dixon have bought Health Seals at this beautiful Christmas tide and assisted this child to health. This is a true picture of the situation in hundreds of cases only in some cases the little patient is in sadder straits. And then the elderly people who are assisted and how grateful they are, too! Buy seals—buy some today!

W. I. C. Class In Enjoyable Meeting

The W. I. C. class of the Baptist church school enjoyed a picnic dinner at the home of their president, Mrs. Phil Kerz Tuesday evening at their monthly meeting. The lights and every detail of the social period gave a distinctive atmosphere of cheer. Preceding the business session an interval was devoted to "How well do we know our poets," and other questions.

It being "Illinois Day," our own poetess, Miss Helmershausen, formerly of our community, was remembered by the singing of "Illinois," written by Miss Helmershausen. After the re-election of the same officers and other transactions, those present returned home, having many pleasant associations and worth while sentiments, as memories.

Fiftieth Wedding AnniversaryWeds'day

On Wednesday, the eleventh, Mr and Mrs. George W. Schrock of 1101 North Galena avenue, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary and their family has made plans for a very pleasant day.

At noon the children will be at home to luncheon and during the afternoon, between two and four friends and relatives will be welcomed at the home. At 6:30 the children with husbands and wives will enjoy a dinner and assist Mr. and Mrs. Schrock in the celebration of this happy event.

ALTAR AND ROSARY SOCIETY TO MEET—

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Patrick's Catholic church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the K. C. Home and a good attendance is desired. The chairman of the committee for the afternoon will be Mrs. John Vaile. Assisting her will be Mrs. Frank Weiser, Mrs. Hugh Keenan, Miss Anna Blackburn, Mrs. Wm. Penrose and Mrs. Dan Blackburn.

Surprise at Dunphy Home at Harmon

Friends and neighbors to the number of fifty completely surprised Mr. and Mrs. William Dunphy Sunday evening. The merry crowd was given the freedom of the home and progressive euchre was the diversion of the evening. The ones carrying away high honors were: Ed O'Brien and Mrs. Catherine Courtright and the consolation trophy went to LeRoy Kent and Mrs. George Long. At midnight a delicious luncheon was served. The guests departed for their homes with the expression of having spent a most enjoyable evening and voting Mr. and Mrs. Dunphy royal entertainers.

This Surely Needs Some Unraveling

Chicago, Dec. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Caroline Robinson Doss has had her marriage to James Doss annulled so she may remarry him.

Mrs. Doss was married in 1921 to James H. Robinson, an Army flyer. In 1924 she sued him for divorce, but before the suit was called for hearing she received a newspaper clipping reporting the death of Robinson in a plane crash.

The action was dropped, and in 1927 she was married to Doss. Last summer, in Oklahoma, Mrs. Doss met the husband she believed dead. The annulment of her marriage to Doss is the first step in her efforts to straighten matters out. Her attorney said she would file a suit to divorce Robinson and that she plans to remarry Doss as soon as she wins a decree.

Former Dixon Girl Wed in November

Mrs. John Jegi, formerly of Dixon, announces the marriage of her daughter, Ruth to Forrest McVicar, Nov. 19, at Denver, Colo. Mrs. McVicar graduated from the Dixon high school and later taught in the high school at Rock Springs, Wyo. Dixon friends will join in extending best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. McVicar.

EXHIBIT OPENED WITH RECEPTION—

Rockford, Dec. 10—An important event in art circles this week will be the pre-view of Teall Messer's paintings at a reception tonight at the Guest House lounge. Mr. Messer a distinguished artist of this vicinity, comes from Dixon, which is also the home of Mrs. Florence Ingraham Blake, hostess at the Guest House lounge.

Invitations for the reception have been sent out and a number of town and Dixon people interested in art have been asked to assist the artist in receiving the guests.

Carpenter-Thompson Wedding Saturday

Vinson G. Carpenter of Clinton, Ia., and Miss Bernice L. Thompson of Fulton, Ill., were married at the parsonage to the Methodist church, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. The pastor of the church, Rev. A. T. Stephenson, officiated at the marriage. Attending the couple were Marvin J. Thompson of Clinton, Ia., and Miss Florence Thomas. The newlyweds and attendants returned the same evening to Clinton, where they will make their future home.

UNIVERSITY CLUB DANCE AT OREGON—

The first Annual University Club Dance will be held at the Coliseum in Oregon, on Christmas Night. Music will be furnished by Roy's 10 piece orchestra of Rockford, the leading Dance Band in Northern Illinois. The committee in charge of the arrangements has announced that invitations to the Dance will be mailed this week.

It is the plan of the Club Members to make this dance an annual event. At this time the homecoming College students will be welcomed back home.

Already several parties in honor of visiting guests have been announced. The dance will be the gala social event of the season for the Club Members and their guests.

W. M. S. TO MEET THURSDAY AFTERNOON—

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. L. W. Walter at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. The assistant hostesses are Mrs. A. Nelson, Mrs. Irvin and Mrs. Baker. All members are urged to be present. Visitors are invited to this meeting.

WOMEN'S BIBLE CLASS TO MEET—

The Women's Bible class of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. D. C. Helmick, 111 West Boyd street, Dec. 12, at 2:30. Members are asked to bring a gift not to exceed ten cents for the Christmas program. Mrs. E. G. Brenner is chairman of the committee.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON—

The Auxiliary to St. Luke's Episcopal church will hold a regular monthly meetnig Friday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 o'clock in the Guild rooms of the church. At this time an election of officers will be held.

ENTERTAINED AT HOUSE PARTY OVER SUNDAY—

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Parks of Brinton avenue entertained at their home over Sunday a group of friends who had a most enjoyable time. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Winders and John Penrose.

THURSDAY READING CIRCLE MEETING—

The Thursday reading Circle will hold a meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Henry Hintz east of town, at 2:30 o'clock. The usual exchange of Christmas gifts will be held.

CANDLELIGHTERS' AID SOCIETY MEETS FRIDAY—

The Candlelighters Aid Society of the Presbyterin church will meet at the church Friday afternoon.

UNITY GUILD TO MEET ON THURSDAY—

The Unity Guild will hold an all day meeting Thursday with Mrs. George Schmucker, 1001 Galena avenue.

ANNUAL CHILDREN'S PARTY SATURDAY—

The annual Children's Party, sponsored by the Dixon Women's Club will be held Saturday afternoon at the Christian church, instead of the 22nd, as previously announced.

FASHION HINTS—

GLAMOROUS HOSIERY—Exquisitely fine gold and silver mesh stockings are created now for evening wear, with metal frocks or some of the regal velvets and chiffons. They are worn with gold or silver brocaded slippers for the most part.

BUTTONED BAGS—An afternoon bag in beige pin-seal envelope shape has a crystal ball for fastening with a big loop of the leather fastening over it.

HORIZONTAL STRIPES—Stripes on the horizontal are chic right now. Chanel makes a sports cape suit of brown beige with apple green blouse.

NEW UMBRELLA—A little brown, red and black plaided umbrella has a red dog with topaz eyes for its handle.

SPARKLING TOUCH—A pink faille evening frock with fitted bodice has its decolletage and shoulder starps elaborately embroidered in strass.

WAISTLINE EFFECT—One of the most flattering treatments of the new silhouette is to fit the frock tightly about the hips and normal waistline, as a bottle green crepe dress does, and blouse slightly above the waistline both front and back.

BOLERO GOWN—Lelong has a new evening gown of chiffon lame in floral design that has a bolero swinging below the waistline.

BLACK CREPE— Black crepe frocks lead for daytime wear. Collar treatments are very important. One, with a wide, deep V in front, has a smashing bottle green velvet bow at the point.

HIGH-WAIST SUIT—A vivid blue tweed suit has a flaring skirt cut well below the knee and extending above the high-waisted belt.

PATCH-WORK SHOES—Evening slippers from Paris come in lovely colored kids with flower sprays of modernistic designs worked out in patch-work design in other colors and gold and silver.

EVENING OXFORDS—Some of the most decorative of dance slippers are the delicate new evening oxfords. One pair of green satin has gold heels, gold edges and gold strings which lace up and tie in a golden bow.

SKIRTED DIGNITY—A stunning black panne velvet gown with real lace yolk that points out over the shoulders and to a V in front has tremendous dignity in its long skirt that sweeps the ankles all around.

BLACK-BROWN—One of the smartest new color combinations is black and brown. A brown flat crepe frock has vestee and collar and deep cuffs of black breitschwanz.

ONE IN TEN MILLION

Saginaw, Mich. — Experts figure that there's but one chance in every ten million for four perfect bridge hands to be held in a bridge game. If that's the case, the party recently held at a tea house here holds the distinction. Mrs. Hugo F. Waner, dealer, gave herself all the diamonds, Mrs. Everett Sweet all the hearts, Mrs. Clara Everett, all the spades and Mrs. Joseph D. Frost all the clubs. Eighteen witnessed the game.

DROPPING THE CAVE MAN.

The eastern gentleman who plunged into the Canadian wilds a couple of months ago to see how far a modern city dweller could get in the primitive cave-man role seems to have come out a poor second in his combat with native.

He planned, you remember, to go into the wilds naked and unarmed, to clothe and feed himself with his bare hands and with such tools as he could make in the forest.

First he compromised by wearing running pants and an athletic shirt. Then he compromised further by taking an ax. Then he compromised some by appropriating a moose skin that some Indian had left lying about.

And now, footsore, blistered and underweight from hunger, he comes back to civilization. Two months were plenty. The wilderness, it would seem, is too much for the modern city dweller.

This chap, undoubtedly, did as well as any of us could do. We have gone a long way from the perfod of individual self-sufficiency. Who among us could go out into the forset and find his own food, clothing and shelter? Not one of us. We would either starve or freeze, in short order.

This measure of our helplessness is a striking testimonial to the distance that mankind has advanced. It is not so many generations since no man could live if he could not fight, bare-handed, against Nature. Now if a man can tend a simple machine, get on and off of a street car and find his way about a city he is amply fitted to survive.

Have we grown soft? Undoubtedly. But have we, in the softening process, really lost anything of value? Probably not. There is no reason for this easterner to feel ashamed of his failure in the wilderness. Indeed, the fact that he failed so ingloriously is really an item on the credit side of the ledger.

For life ought to be something more than a mere fight for existence. To be able to make a fire by rubbing two sticks together is, no doubt, quite an achievement; and, likewise, it is something to be able to catch a deer, eat his flesh and make a pair of breeches out of his hide. Yet the fact that we have become unable to do these things simply indicates that we have managed to get away from the heritage of the ape and tiger. We have taken quite a number of steps upward.

There is no need for us to bewail our helplessness. We ought, rather, to be proud of it. It is an indication that we are progressing.

THE SMARTEST POLITICIANS.

Solemon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin, thinks it only natural that women should be making their mark in American politics.

"Women are the greatest politicians we ever had, and they come by it naturally," he told the club women of Janesville, Wis., the other day.

"They have had to play politics throughout the ages to make it possible to live with Adam. The men think they run the universe, and the women are smart enough to let them think so. So long as the women hold the reins, they do not care who gets credit for good driving."

All of this, of course, is perfectly true. The canniest male politician that ever lived could take lessons from the average mother of a family.

MR. GILLIS IS RE-ELECTED.

The well-known and somewhat comical "Bossy" Gillis, mayor of Newburyport, Mass., seems to have been re-elected, after one of the mose exciting compaigns in that city's history.

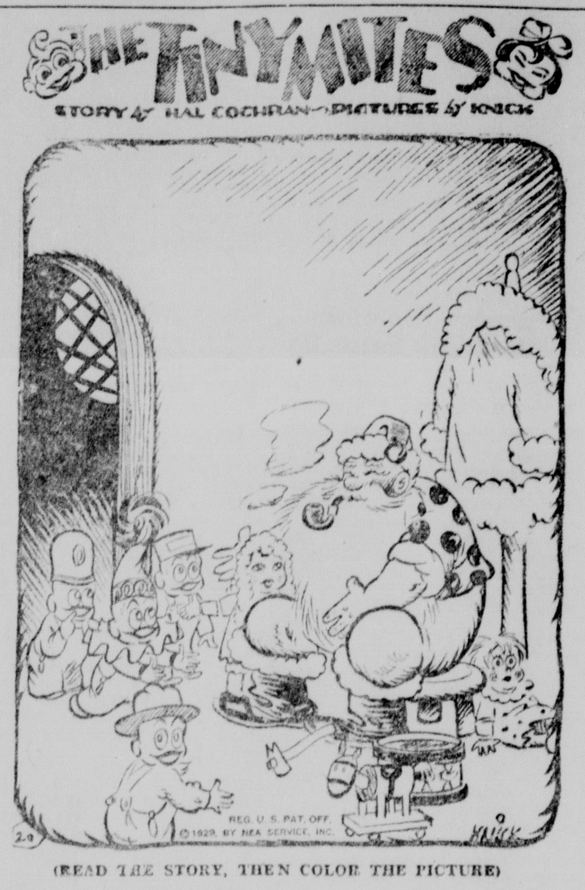

If it's all right with Newburyport, and it seems to be, it's certainly all right with us. One might suggest that Newburyport probably would get along better with a more business-like and less flamboyant executive; but, after all, it's Newburyport's business, and we outsiders have no call to complain.

That being the case, we don't mind saying that we're rather glad Mayor Gillis was re-elected. He's refreshing, to say the least; a welcome relief from the insufferable pomposity of most mayors. If Newburyport can put up with him, we're just as well pleased that he got re-elected.

Students at the University of Minnesota have been suspected of sending substitutes to take their examinations. Well, what's a football player supposed to do?

Investigators for a Chicago mail order house discovered that girl employes spend six minutes a day applying powder, rouge and lipstick. Making up for lost time.

A British writer says he eats raw onions just like apples. That should be a great help in keeping not only doctors away but everybody else.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The overalls the Tinies drew were very cute and lovely blue. "Oh, my," said Coppy, "these are great. And mine fit me just right. I feel just like a working man and with these on, I'll bet I can do much more than my share. Why I can work all day and night."

"Me, too," cried Carpy. "I feel proud and happy that I am allowed to help old Santa make nice things to pack into his sleigh. Now that we're all fixed up all right we all will work with all our might. If we're to meet kind Santa, come, let us be on our way."

Just then a mama doll came near "Oh, goodness," isn't she a dear," said Clowny. "Maybe I will like the work here, after all. When little dolls like that are near, I'm always happy, never fear." And then he grabbed the doll because he thought 'twas going to fall.

The doll just smiled and said, "Don't fret! I've never fallen over yet. Oh, my, I've learned just lots and lots of things since I was born. They've taught me how to stand and walk and also how to smile and talk. I only hope I'll please some little girl on Christmas morn.

"But, my, we're wasting time galore. A very wondrous treat's in store." A voice then said, "Be on your way." It was a little elf, who added, "Follow her now, boys. She'll take you to the land of toys. And in it, you are going to meet old Santa Claus himself."

"Hip, hip, hurray!" the Tinies cried. They kept right by the wee doll's side. They shortly met old Santa Claus and all began to cheer He shook each Tiny by the hand and shouted, "Well, well, this is grand. I see you've come to help me with my work. I'm glad you're here."

(The Tinymites go to work in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY OF

MISSISSIPPI JOINS UNION

On Dec. 10, 1817, the state of Mississippi was admitted to the Union

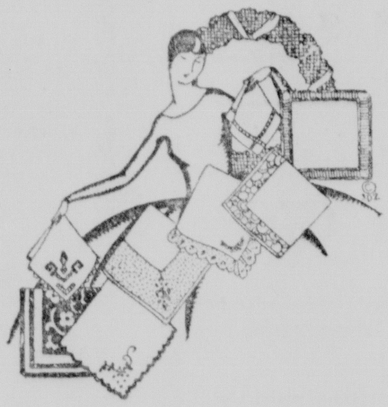

The most notable features of Mississippi's first constitution were the high property qualifications for holding office, the short tenures of office, and the large appointing power of the governor and legislature.

By the treaties of 1830 and 1832 with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians, who inhabited the northern part of the state, the lands occupied by those tribes were incorporated into the state, subjected to its jurisdiction, and thrown open to settlement by the whites.

Mississippi adopted a new constitution in 1832 abolishing property qualifications for office-holding and requiring that all officers, both state and county, should be chosen by the people.

Other constitutions were adopted in 1868 and again in 1890, chiefly as the result of strife concerning negro suffrage.

HOOVER'S PLAN FOR HAITI WILL MEET A BATTLE

Single Phrase In His Message Stirs Up Some Comment

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Dec. 10—(AP)—A single phrase in President Hoover's special message to Congress on Haiti seems destined to lead to much inquiry and debate before authority is voted the Chief Executive to send a special commission to the West Indian republic.

This phrase—"Our representatives in Haiti have shown great ability and devotion"—has caught the eyes of several Senators who ask whether Mr. Hoover with these words sets the stamp of his approval upon the administration in Haiti.

Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations committee, who has disagreed with both Democratic and Republican administrations in the matter of armed intervention in Latin-American countries, adds another inquiry of why another commission when there has been one in Haiti for a matter of fourteen years.

The Idahoan has stated that if the President intends to "clean up" the present situation he is ready to help. Other Senators take a like view, although there is little question now that Congress will vote the authority and the funds to send a commission, to include members of the House and Senate, to the little republic.

When the Wilson administration negotiated the treaty under which the United States was to assist the Haitian authorities for a period of 20 years, it was assumed that this would be ample time in which to put the island government on a sound basis and permit of American withdrawal with prospects of peace and security for foreigners there.

Whether conditions on the island are approaching this ideal is one subject into which the proposed commission would inquire.

Miami Stadium, Seating 50,000, Ready for Winter Series of Slug Fests

Second Annual "Battle of Stiff Shirts" to Dedicate New Stadium.

MIAMI, Fla.—The rumbling of heavyweight championship claims, some of which threaten to become deafening, is likely to settle down to a two-man roar within the next few months when the stage will be set for the inaugural battle at Miami's new Medison Square Garden stadium.

In fact the claims of all but a scant quartet have so diminished in volume as to be virtually out of the fistic picture which now is dominated by Jack Sharkey, Max Schmelling, Phil Scott and Jerry (Tuffy) Griffiths in the order of their importance to the industry. But to the general discomfort of the latter three, who have been snapping at Sharkey's heels since the Boston Gob cooled Philadelphia's Tommy Loughran in the New York Garden, there is the menacing shadow of the once-rugged Jack Dempsey, called Sharkey's nemesis, and about the best gate attraction since the boys in old Rome buckled ten-penny nails on their fists and struggled to a bloody finish.

In a recent visit to Miami, during which he launched the building of the Garden's stadium here, Frank Bruen, vice-president and general manager, dropped the intimation that Jack Dempsey might be tempted back into the ring. In fact he said "Jack might come back, but I'm sure he wants to be certain he can not only win one fight but two," which, depending on the point of view, brings the Manassa Mauler into the figuring on Sharkey's opponent in Miami during the stiff shirt and diamond season.

As for Schmelling, Scott and Griffiths, they hold the distinction of having been mentioned as possible Sharkey opponents along with a couple of hundred other fighters more or less well known wherever fight fans gather. The multiplicity of Schmelling managers, all of whom seem to have different plans for the Belting Burgher of Berlin, have succeeded only in getting him officially barred in 46 states which leaves only Florida and one other state in which he can appear legally. Vittorio Campolo, biggest of the campaigners to date, up from the Argentine with one eye on the title and the other on a dazzling stack of American dollars, was temporarily restricted because of a defeat by Scott.

As for Griffiths, the only homebred of the three logical contenders, he looms as perhaps as good a match for Sharkey as the Garden could find in the opinion of many observers. He is a dark horse candidate but is in on the figuring.

In any event there is some assurance that this winter's Miami bout will be worth seeing for there is no secret about the Garden's eagerness to put over a real fight and thus blot out for all time the spectacle of last year's bout when Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling nearly succumbed to ennui in ten rounds of inertia.

For the privilege of studying this classic lesson in caution Miami fans paid a gross well over $400,000, and disclosed to fight promoters a rich market for any kind of fighting.

This year, however, the Garden has shown a disposition to take Miami bouts with a great deal more consideration, and the new stadium is one of the finest boxing arenas in the south. It has a seating capacity of 50,000.

In view of current rumors that there is a boxing war looming over the horizon, designed to ultimately oust the Garden as the dominating factor in the game, it is reasonably certain that the next big match under its promotion will be one of its best, if not the greatest, which is an effective way to silence enemy guns.

There is, however, strong indication that a second syndicate of promoters will present a heavyweight match involving Schmelling and Stribling. Several weeks ago this announcement was made by Gabe Kauffman, Kansas City promoter.

Oak Park Garage, 70 Trucks Burned

Chicago, Dec. 9—(UP)—A spectacular fire, punctuated by explosions destroyed 70 motor trucks and an Oak Park garage today with a property loss of $200,000.

A watchman, returning from lunch at dawn, discovered the fire which flared through the building when it reached stores of oil and gasoline. Fifty horses in a nearby transfer barn were moved from the danger zone.

Lives of the fire fighters were perilled by the explosions which shot flaming oil and debris into the air as the fighters endeavored to approach with hose lines.

Only the blackened walls of the garage and the twisted skeletons of the trucks remained when the firemen finally brought the fire under control.

Chief William started an investigation into the origin of the fire.

Bandits Held Up Many Cars: Foiled

Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)—Just like it used to be out west, three bandits terrorized a six mile stretch of Roosevelt Road between Winfield and Wheaton for a short time yesterday, looking for $20,000 they never found.

Nearly a score of motorcars were held up. The robbers were looking particularly for Nicholas Gille, a wealthy Hinsdale contractor who they believed was on his way to Wheaton with $20,000 cash to be posted as bond for his son-in-law's release from jail.

They might have gotten Gille except that he changed his mind about putting up the bond.

By the time police of several communities had been told of the wholesale highway robbery, the bandits had disappeared.

Motor Boat Racer Killed In Crash

New Hyde Park, N. Y., Dec. 9—(AP)— Earl Widigren, 25, well known motor boat racer of Long Island, was killed today along with a passenger in his automobile when the car went out of control on the Jericho Turnpike and crashed into a telephone pole.

Widigren who won the New York-to-Albany outboard motor boat race in 1928 and had won a number of local motor boat races was killed almost instantly. Lawrence Bereold, 25, a construction engineer, of Hicksville, L. I. died a few minutes later in the Nassau hospital at Mineola.

Joseph Monguillizo 28, also a contractor, of Locust Valley, N. Y. is in the Nassau Hospital with a broken back and is not expected to live.

Three other passengers in the car, sustained minor injuries.

Slayer Of Woman Taken In Kenosha

Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)—William Ahrendt, 34, who police say was released six months ago from a Los Angeles insane asylum was to tell a Coroner's jury today why he killed Mrs. Josephine Ford with a butcher knife at her home Saturday morning.

Ahrendt was arrested late Saturday at the home of his brother in Kenosha, Wis., and brought back to Chicago. Los Angeles police records, officials here were informed, showed that Ahrendt was charged with an attack on a five-year-old girl in 1924, an assault with a deadly weapon upon a young womn, and had been arrested as a burglary suspect.

Mrs. Ford was found slain, her throat and face slashed, when her husband returned to their apartment shortly before noon Saturday. Ahrendt, who was a roomer in the apartment, had fled.

SCOTT-PORAT BOUT PROVED REAL FIASCO

Even Referee Jack Dempsey Showed Disapproval

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 10 —(AP)— Phil Scott, the gangling British heavyweight champion, today was the possessor of a ring decision that proved nothing much of anything.

Shufflin' Phil, with an agonized lunge that seemed prompted somewhat by second thought, fell to the canvas in the second round of his bout wit hthe black-thatched Norwegian, Otton von Porat, last night after being hit low by a left hook. After considerable hesitation and a good deal of reluctance upon the part of the Referee, none other than Jack Dempsey, Scott was awarded the verdict on a foul to the accompaniment of a tremendous roar of disapproval from the crowd of some 15,000 fans.

Thus, what was to have been the star 12-round attraction of the much bally-hooed Christmas Fund Show, the heavyweight battle to help determine a logical opponent for Jack Sharkey in a final championship test, came to a sudden, inconclusive and thoroughly unsatisfactory finish.

Dempsey Displeased

Scott unquestionably was hit low at least six inches below the belt, by a sweeping left that von Porat started from somewhere near the floor. To the majority of ringside observers, as well as to Dempsey, it also appeared that Scott was not badly hurt. In fact Dempsey seemed to think the fight should go on and made some futile gesture to bring Scott meanwhile was writhing in apparent agony upon the floor. The seconds jumped in from both corners, rushing the fighters as well as Dempsey. If it had been pre-arranged, there hardly could have been any more chaos than existed for fully a minute. Newspapermen leaped up to demand to know the decision. The judges sat somewhat dumbfounded while Dempsey, in the ring as an act of good will, suddenly found himself in the midst of a situation as perplexing as anything he ever was involved in as a fighter. Perhaps for the moment Dempsey sympathized with the difficulties of Dave Barry, who gave Gene Tunney the celebrated long-count at Chicago to the undoing of the former champion himself.

Referee Uncertain

With the role reversed and the decision forced upon himself, Dempsey displayed an uncertainty that he would never have exhibited with the gloves on. After a hasty but ineffectual effort to convince Scott it would be worthwhile to continue fighting, Dempsey rendered the verdict that gave victory to the Britisher. Thereupon he stepped from the ring to be greeted by the boos of a crowd that only a few minutes previously had given him a sensational ovation. Scott, after being administered to his corner, also was booed lustily as he climbed from the ring.

The crowd seemed eo feel that it had been cheated of the evening's entertainment, regardless of the merit of the decision. The outcome of the latest heavyweight fiasco leaves Scott in possession of the victory, yet with no more substantial claim to recognition than von Porat. For the three minutes and 25 seconds of actual fisticuffing, it was demonstrated merely that von Porat was the more dangerous puncher, Scott the better boxer, but this was well known previously. The logical result may be to force a return match. In fact, if last night's proceedings had been arranged with that in view, that could not have been better staged. Perhaps the palms of Florida are destined to wave gently over an encore.

This Line Is Chosen as the Best in the East

Champs Jazz Up Stage

The step from baseball to stage is a mere trifle, especially if you happen to be members of the world champion Athletics, as are Bing Miller, left, and Jimmy Dykes, right. At a party in their honor in a Philadelphia theater, recently, Bing and Jimmy showed the gang and Euhele Joeffire, the sweet thing, that they knew how to make whoopee as all good end men should. End man stuff, however, is not new to Bing. He won fame by ending the world series by his timely ninth-inning bingle that scored the winning run. Funny thing, but the last time we pictured Bing he was holding a cute little pig in his arms, back on that farm in Iowa. The clarinet he is holding above squeals, too.

While Phil Ball Says He Will Fight Radio Interests

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Dec. 10—(AP)—This is a busy day for baseball magnates, with meetings of the Advisory Council and the National League. Any holdover conversation in the older major circuit will be disposed of tomorrow as American League magnates tune in for their own confab. Both of these meetings will be held in the Commodore, and a joint session of the two leagues will be convened at the Biltmore on Thursday.

First and foremost on the program of each circuit will be the disposal of the two 1929 pennants in an official way. The opinion seems to have become general that the Cubs will get the call from John Heydler's boys and that the claims of Connie Mack will receive serious consideration from American Leaguers before any champion is named. It is further reported that Mr. Mack will lay claim to the championship of the world.

With trade talk in the air as usual, the two major leagues have two pieces of real business to transact—one of them of great moment to such fans as shivered in bleak stands in late September and early October this year. Both circuits are reported to be willing to curtail the season to about 169 playing dates, bringing the championship races to a close on September 28. The opening date, under this arrangment, would be Tuesday, April 15.

The other problem before the magnates is the decision of whether games shall or shall not be broadcast by radio. The American League is reported to be opposed to the radio, with the National somewhat up in the air on the question. Phil Ball of the Browns is the leading opponent of the microphone; William Wrigley, Jr., of the Cubs, the leading proponent.

Of all the trades reported in the making, that involving Dazzy Vance with five or six National League clubs seems to be the one most likely to be concluded at the meetings. The Dazzler disappointed the Brooklyn management last summer after demanding and receiving a one year contract for $25,000. The once great right-hander will hardly want any less next season, and the Brooklyn club admittedly would just as soon see him draw it from some other club. From the standpoint of any club which might trade for Vance, the Dazzler may have one or two good years left in him. The likelihood is strong enough to cause hands to reach for pocketbooks, at any event.

If one big player swap develops from the conferences in progress, the meetings will have been a success from a newspaper standpoint.

SHIRES CLIPS DALY ON CHIN; HE'S PALOOKA

But the Colorful "Great" One Failed To Exhibit Anything

BY BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 10—(UP)—Mr. Arthur Shires, who claims greatness in various lines of athletics endeavor, last night essayed to show his "public" that he is a pugilist. If knocking over a "palooka" is "greatness," it must be admitted that he is "The Great Shires" which he himself claims to be.

It took Shires, who was making his debutas a professional pugilist, exactly 21 seconds to end a fight with one Dan Daly of Cleveland who had never been heard of in these parts.

Shires, who plays a good game at first base for the Chicago White Sox, achieved considerable reputation as an amateur pugilist last summer when he twice blacked the eyes of Lena Blackburne, his manager. In fact, this pugilistic ability, combined with his egotism, last night was responsible for the sell-out house which greeted Promoter Jim Mullen when he looked over his White City Arena.

Boxing Money Welcome

If rumors are true Shires is in the "red," for between suspensions and fines during last summer Art is said not to have realized a great deal on his salary with the Chicago White Sox. So boxing money is welcome.

The Great Shires came into the ring in a rainbow bath robe which had printed on the back "Art the Great Shires." It must be said for Arthur that he came out fighting. He used nothing but left and right hooks and all the hooks landed on Daly's jaw.

There is no doubt about the fact that Daly was out. Both his eyes were black, his nose was red and his lips were cut when he left the ring in a "woozy" condition. But there also is no doubt about the fact that Shires stood to win when he went into the ring.

Knows Showmanship

The great Arthur doesn't know a lot about fighting. He does know something about color and showmanship and that perhaps accounts for his filling the building where even good fighters have been unable to draw money-making crowds.

Pugilistic interest here isn't as great as it was a year ago but the public will pay to see heroes and that brings up the problem of what a match between Shires and Hack Wilson would draw.

Wilson plays center field for the Chicago Cubs and he too has achieved something of a reputation for pugilistic ability because of his sorties against rival ball players.

At any rate Shires is a pugilistic drawing card now. He probably will be handled carefully and it isn't at all unlikely that his boxing will get both himself and Promoter Mullen out of the "red."

Grange Turns To Manage Fighters

Chicago, Dec. 10 — (AP) — Red Grange, the once "Galloping Ghost" of college football, has turned to managing fighters. He has taken over the affairs of George Trafton, giant center of the Chicago Bears professional football team, and has directed Trafton's first challenge at Arthur (The Great) Shires.

IOWA OUT FOR NEXT SEASON; MAY COME BACK

Other Officials Deny that Larger Receipts Caused Move

Chicago, Dec. 10— (AP)— The Western Conference Faculty Committee on Athletics has decided Iowa is athletically out of the Big Ten January 1, but the controversy has not died.

Iowa, seeking to establish athletic relations with schools outside the Big Ten, faces the possibility of an alumni revolt against the administration of the school. Superior Court Judge M. L. McKinley of Chicago, a former head of the Iowa Alumni Association, has asked that the Iowa State Board of Education investigate, not only the department of athletics, but causes of "dissention and discord that has existed in departments of the university, other than athletics." Judge McKinley's charges were aimed at President Walter Jessup of the University of Iowa, who he said had worked against the alumni, whose only desire, he said, was to offer assistance in Iowa's athletic troubles.

The question of a desire "for larger gate receipts," as a factor in severing athletic relations with Iowa, was denied by two Western Conference athletic men. Fielding H. Yost, Athletic Director at the University of Michigan, said the loss of Iowa from the Michigan football schedule next season would mean financial loss. He said the game, to have been played at Iowa City, would have outdrawn anything Michigan will be able to arrange for the open date.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite of Wisconsin told a group at Toledo that he was sorry to lose Iowa from his schedule. He said he had always enjoyed competition with Iowa, and lauded Burt Ingwersen, Iowa's football coach.

It is possible that Iowa may regain its standing in the Big Ten before the 1930 football season arrives. The conference committee invited Iowa to return as soon as certain questions could satisfactorily be answered. In its resolution denying the Iowa petition the committee stated: "It is the earnest hope of the Conference that Iowa may find itself in a position, in the near future, to renew its petition."

Iowa officials were to meet today to determine its policy—whether it shall strike out as a free lance, without intention of seeking reinstatement, or if it shall plan to renew its petition as invited by the conference committee.

ARRANGE CAGE GAMES

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 10 —(UP)— Iowa, "ousted" from the Western Conference, already making its basketball schedule for the coming season.

So far the Hawkeyes have arranged the following games:

Dec. 16—Pittsburgh at Iowa.
Dec. 21—Marquette at Milwaukee.
Dec. 23—Notre Dame at South Bend.
Jan. 8—South Dakota State at Iowa City.
Jan. 24—Drake at Iowa City.
Feb. 3—Oklahoma Aggies at Iowa City.
Feb. 18—St. Louis University at St. Louis.
Feb. 22—Drake at Des Moines.

Negotiations reportedly are under way for other contests.

Figures in Strange Love Suit

Reversing the usual procedure, Count Leon Bayard de Volo, 42, Italian nobleman, has filed suit for breach of promise in Los Angeles courts against Laura Langhauser, 22, Huntington Park, Calif., school teached. The count asks no money, but requests the return of expensive jewelry. The couple came into prominene recently when the count commissiond a leading sculptor to execute a bust of Miss Langhauser, which won first prize at an art exhibition. The count, who is the only son of a lady-in-waiting to the Italian queen, is shown above with the prize winning bust. Miss Langhauser is shown in the inset.

High School Squad Guests Of Gyros

Seventeen members of the 1929 Dixon high school football squad with their coaches were guests of the Gyro club at a banquet last evening, served in the guild rooms at St. Luke's Episcopal church. The gridiron stars with Athletic Director Arthur C. Bowers, Coach C. B. Lindell and Assistant Coach L. E. Sharpe enjoyed a true holiday feast with roast turkey and dressing, and all of the delicious accompaniments.

President Walter Mueller served as toastmaster and called upon the athletic director and coaches for short talks. Attorney Robert Bracken of this city, a former football star, was the speaker of the evening and talked briefly on the subject, "Clean Sportsmanship." In his remarks he stressed the importance of playing the game clean and called attention to several of last fall's games at the conclusion of which the officials commented to Coach Lindell on the fine example of sportsmanship dispayed by the purpe and white players in face of defeat. Members of the team were also called upon and gave short talks.

Detroit Boy Proves Tourney Sensation

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 10 — (AP) — Marcel Camp, 21-year-old Detroit boy, proved the sensation of the opening game of the world's pocket billiard championship tournament at the Recreation Buliding last night. Camp turned back Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y. The budding champion, by a score of 125 to 82 in 23 innings. Camp's high run was 24, Taberski's 29.

Camp's victory was a genuine surprise but after the third inning when he inserted his high run, he never was headed. At one time he was leading by 89 to 43. Runs of 13, 13 and 11 on the last three innings decided the game.

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—The Royal Neighbors, who have occupied the rooms in the Kessler "Tavern" for the past eight or nine years as their lodge hall, will have to seek some other shelter, according to owners' statement. The building was acquired by Mr. Kessler, who occuipes the same as a home and wood-working shop downstairs, the upstairs has been rented by the local Royal Neighbors camp. Mr. Kessler charges that the Royal Neighbors have violated the terms of the lease by sub-renting to the younger generation for social purposes. The lease has expired, or will soon, and members of the order are on the verge of moving out of the "Tavern" which has the most historic value of any building in town.

Miss Hitchcox of the University of Illinois spoke at the first regular meeting of the Home Bureau held at the new high school gym on last Friday afternoon. Miss Hitchcox spoke on Christmas Suggestions to the many women that attended the first meeting of the Home Bureau to be held in this vicinity.

L. M. Corwin, Ed. Whitsell, Ivan Glaser, L. D. Miller motored to Waltonville, Friday and spent the remainder of the week there hunting.

Miss Evelyn Gilmore and Miss Faye Cook visited over Friday and Saturday at Rockford.

Compton high school basketball team lost its first game of the season to Lee high school at Lee on last Tuesday evening by a score of 19 to 6. The half ended with Lee leading 14 to 2, but in last half the local lads came back and held Lee to five points. The Compton squad have been under a handicap as the new gym is not quite yet completed and for practice sessions there is only one basket, which is temporary at that. Plans are under way to build two new baskets. W. Chaon, C. Chaon each made one field goal, and a free toss by Risley and Mireley constituted the extent of Compton's scoring capacity.

Friday afternoon Compton high will meet Steward in the first round of the G. R. V. C. tournament. The schools of Paw Paw, Lee Center, Ashton, Steward, Franklin Grove, Rollo, Lee and Compton comprise the teams that will compete. Compton will go on the floor Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

Miss Lucille Cook, teacher at the Elliott school, north of West Brooklyn, will hold an entertainment and box social Friday evening, Dec. 13th. Everyone is invited to attend.

The honor class for October is made up of Gwendolyn Rhodes, Olga Florschuetz, Max Burley, Lee Archer, Vera Mae Bauer, Edna Davis, Erwin Grosshans, Genevieve Rhodes, Raymond Schmidt, Julia Walters, Vera Mireley, Myrtle Hampton, Evelyn Florschuetz, Anna Ege, Wellington Chaon. These pupils are given the privilege through December of leaving school at 3:05 P. M. whenever they wish. Those included in this group are those making an average of 87 or better. The Special Honor group is made up of Vera Cook, Dorothy Gilmore, Donald Carnahan, Clifton Carnahan. These people enjoy all the privileges of the Honor Class and in addition are given permission to leave school as soon as their last recitation is over whenever they wish during December. They hav made an average of 95 or better.

Sixty five percent of the high school were neither absent nor tardy during November. These people are allowed the privilege of leaving on Friday as soon as their last class is over. Since this plan has been adopted the attendance has improved greatly.

It is hoped, as well as expected the new gym will be available for playing games after the New Year. New back boards are needed and some provision for seating must be provided before the gym can be used for scheduled games.

Would Consolidate Radio, Telegraph

Washington, Dec. 9—(UP)—Consolidation of all the nation's telegraph and radio facilities into one world wide communications system operated as a monopoly under government regulation was recommended to the Senate Interstate Commerce committe today by Owen D Young, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Radio Corporation of America.

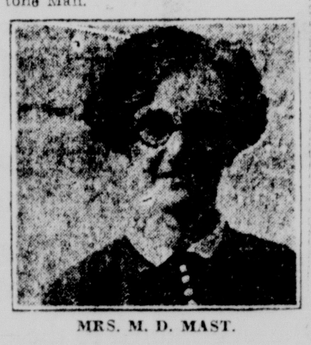

Young characterized the existing competitive organizations of this country's telegraphic facilities as "archaic" and uneconomical.

Found Relief Through Kavatone

"Tried Everything But Kavatone is the Only Remedy that Brought Relief," Says Well-Known Ann Arbor Woman.

"Kavatone sure is the most wonderful medicine I have ever used and anyone who doubts it has but to ask me about it, be cause I had been troubled for years by kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder, also a bad case of neuritis, and I have tried every kind of medicine that doctors and friends advised, but only found relief through the use of Kavatone." This amazing statement was made by Mrs. M. D. Mast, 504 Spring Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan, to the Kavatone Man.

MRS. M. D. MAST.

"For years I was troubled with kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder that caused sharp shooting pains in my back, and such dizzy spells that at times I actually reeled and had to catch hold of something to support myself. Then, too, I had a bad case of neuritis to add to my miseries. No one knew the suffering I went through. I seemed to be sick all the time. Whenever I tried to eat, pains, gas and a heavy feeling in my stomach were sure to follow. My kidneys being weak caused my back to ache constantly. Between the stomach pains and the kidney weakness, it was impossible to get a real night's sleep. My joints were sore and swollen and I was always so tired I was simply dragging myself around. But the few bottles of Kavatone that I have taken has made me feel better in every way. I hardly have to get up at night at all and the pain has left my back and I can eat anything. There is no doubt about Kavatone Herb Tonic being a wonder worker and I feel sure it will do for others what it has done for me."

The Kavatone man is at the Ford Hopkins Store, where he is daily meeting the public and personally explaining the merits of this great preparation. The famous Kavatone figure (an ingenious human torso showing every organ of the body) is used in this demonstration and everyone is cordially invited to see and study this figure, an experience which will be interesting and instructive.

HUNDRED OGLE FARMERS WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Special Trip To Be Made Tomorrow To Stock Yards

At least one hundred farmers of Ogle County are expected to gather under the auspices of the Ogle County Farm Bureau, for an excursion trip to the Chicago Union Stock Yards to study cooperative marketing of live stock tomorrow.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company is cooperating by offering two special cars to be attached to the "Blackhawk Limited" and also by giving a special railroad rate of about one-third the usual fare for the round trip that day.

The purpose of the tour is to give information in regard to the advantages of cooperation in marketing live stock. *The farmers will be conducted through the Stock Yards to see the sorting, selling, and weighing of cattle, hogs and sheep of different gardes. They will also be shown how the office work of the Commission Association is done and will be given a trip through the large packing houses to see the slaughtering and processing of the various kinds of meat and meat products.

The crowd will be organized in groups under the supervision of the Shipping Association managers and all who wish to go are asked to notify the manager of their local Shipping Association of the Farm Bureau. The excursion is not for Farm Bureau members only but for any one who is intersted in the subject.

The party will leave on the Burlington Railroad from Polo at 5:25; Oregon at 5:50 and Rochelle at 6:19 A. M., December 11, and return the evening of the same day.

U. S. Farmer Whips Pestering Dragons

Chicago—(AP)—St. George, who polished off one dragon and annexed a historical reputation for it, gets the horse laugh from the American farmer.

That gentleman battles millions of dragons every day for his living.

How many dragons the farmer has to fight with was shown by the huge heaps of publications exhibited in and distributed from a specail booth of the United States department of agriculture at the 1929 International Livestock exposition here.

To save his crops and his stock, one learns from these publications, the farmer has to fight daily against an army of chalcis flies, bagworms, wireworms, rootworms, grubworms, jointworms, eelworms and many other worms. Too, there are a host of baccilli such as those of tuberculosis, blackleg, and dozens of other diseases, to say nothing of lice and mites and ticks.

Besides, he has to battle with the weather at lambing time, and at calving time, and when his pig crop is being born into a cold world, as well as at harvest time when storms may ruin his whole year's crop.

And, scattered through his pastures is grass in which are concealed poison weeds which may kill his stock.

Billions of these enemies move upon him every day and night.

That he wins these battles, however, sometimes pretty gloriously, was indicated in the exhibits of fine, fat stock with curly hair and in the crops that filled the bins of the exposition.

The Farm Week in Washington

BY FRANK L. WELLER
Farm Editor
(Associated Press Feature Service)

Washington —(AP) —With three national marketing agencies underway, the federal farm board again turns its attention to cotton.

On December 10 and 11 it will confer at Memphis with representatives of the state cooperative cotton growers' associations which are members of the American Cotton Growers' exchange.

The board has had little to say about the meeting and whether it is to lay the foundation for a national marketing organization has not been discussed. The announcement says the conference will study plans "for the future of cooperative marketing of cotton."

The exchange has 13 member cooperatives. August 19 the farm board granted it a commodity loan to run from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Advances on the loan were to be made from time to time as requests were presented.

The Georgia Cotton Growers' Cooperative association, a member of the exchange, asked for $750,000. It was made available through the Intermediate Credit Bank. October 2 the board advanced $500,000 of a $6,000,000 loan approved for the Staple Cotton Growers' Cooperative association. Two loans of $25,000 each have gone forward to the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Cooperativ association and a loan of $100,000 to the Tennessee Cotton Growers' association.

Carl Williams, representing cotton on the farm board, told the senate agricultural committee September 30 that he believed the first thing that should be done for the cotton industry was to have "a complete reorganization of the American Cotton Growers' exchange for the centralization of sales and other activities of all the states through one organization."

He told the committee October 1 that the worst trouble with the cotton south, "is that 30 per cent of the entire population are tenants, 11 per cent or thereabouts are croppers and neither one has anything to say about the method of handling and selling their own cotton."

Only from 7 to 11 per cent of the cotton crop is handled by cooperatives, Williams said.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Chicago, —(AP)—Forty per cent fewer cattle were arriving at leading markets at the end of November than at the high point of the season five weeks previous. Part of the shrinkage was seasonal and part was an effort by producers to escape the severe punishment in prices, the Prairie Farmer's market said.

"The average price paid for steers sold for slaughter at Chicago during the week ending November 23, was $12.80 compared with $14.80 at the high point in the week of July 5. Better action in fat cattle prices and declining receipts of westerns have stiffened stocker and feeder prices.

"The average cost of hogs at Chicago has been fluctuating between $8.95 and 9.30 for a month. On moderate upturns, large packers lay out of the market but when prices are around or under the $9 level broad demand develops. Receipits are still increasing. It seems that the market is dragging along its winter bottom at this time.

"Receipts of lambs and sheep at leading markets in November were slightly larger than a year ago and the heaviest at the corresponding time since 1920. Prices probably have passed the season's low spot, but are having difficulty getting above it.

"Sentiment in domestic wool markets has been strengthened by firmness in prices in London. Prices at Boston have slipped about five per cent compared with three weeks ago.

"After a period of hesitation, wheat prices made some additional upward progress in the past week. Sensational crop news from Argentina, moderate export sales and evidence that congestion of wheat in Europe is being reduced were the strengthening influences. Evidence tht Europe is rapidly using up its native wheat continues to accumulate. Although clearances for export are only moderate, stocks in North America are decreasing rather rapidly.

"Corn price quotations are sharply lower than a week ago as they are now mostly oh a new corn basis. The visible supply showed a slight increase and the movement to primary markets is due to expand.

"Demand for hay is improving slowly, but shipments have remained fairly heavy so that supplies in the leading distributing markets have been equal to trade requirements. Colder weather is expected to bring a larger demand from sections east of the Mississippi. Alfalfa hay in middlewestern markets held fairly steady last week.

"The seasonal scarcity of fresh eggs and fairly active demand have sustained prices of fresh eggs at the highest level of the season. Receipts of fresh probably are close to the low point of the season.

Fresh egg values can be expected to ease off before long. "Some tightening up in the supplies of top grades of butter and prices. In spite of lower level of prices, distribution of butter into consumptive channels so far in November have failed to equal a year ago.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Dec. 10—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat decreased 2,112,000; corn increased 597,000; oats decreased 33,000; rye decreased 305,000; barley increased 53,000.

Tiny Organism Found To Maintain Nitrogen Content In Wheat Land

Manhattan, Kan.—(AP)—The discovery that a tiny organism is capable of maintaining a constant supply of nitrogen in wheat land may assure a well-filled bread basket for the world indefinitely.

Experiments of two investigators of the Kansas State Agricultural college have brought definite evidence that this minute microbe, which thrives in wheat soil, should prevent any eventual exhaustion of nitrogen vitality in land devoted to wheat.

The research of Dr. Percy L. Gainey, bacteriologist, and Dr. Malcolm C. Sewell, agronomist, is considered a significant point in favor of continuous wheat crops on the same land, a practice generally disapproved.

Known as azotobacter, this organism is found so small that 500,000,000 of them live in one ounce of soil.

As wheat takes nitrogen from the land, the microb replaces it at an estimated annual rate of 40 pounds to an acre. That is approximately the quantity removed by a wheat crop.

Tests in several plots, whose soil was analyzed 10 years ago, have shown their nitrogen content unchanged despite a decade of continuous wheat culture. The presence of azotobacter in that soil, Dr. Gainey and Dr. Sewell are convinced, was responsible for the replacement of nitrogen.

The microbe, they have found, becomes active as soon as soil is reduced in nitrogen content, taking a fresh supply from the air as do bacteria used in fixing nitrogen in soils planted to legumes.

However, they have learned that azotobacter exist on the smallest possible expenditure of energy, maintaining nitrogen as its original level, and no more.

STATE FUND TO 4-H CLUBS TO BE PAID SOON

Money For Shows To Be Paid Early In Coming Month

Springfield —(AP)— State funds for 4-H Club shows will be paid early in January, Director Clarence F. Buck of the Illinois department of agriculture announied today. All farm advisors have been supplied with report blanks and instrurtions to be compiled with that they may share in the appropriations for premium reimbursement.

When all farm advisors have reported the amounts paid out as premiums at the agricultural and home economics shows conducted for the 4-H clubs in 1929, the first state aid extended to support such exhibitions will be available.

The maximum amount allowable as premium reimbursement, in accordance with provisions of the act passed by the last session of the legislature and approved by Governor Emmerson, is $525.—three-fourths of the premiums paid by each county club, up to $700. Home economics exhibits are entitled to a maximum of one-fifth of that amount, or $105.

The agricultural shows may be divided into livestock, poultry and grain shows, held separtely or jointly, but only one show of each kind held by each county 4-H club may draw state funds during the year. Only one home economics show, in each county, during the year, is entitled to participate.

The object of this branch of state aid for junior agricultural and home economics activities, the agricultural department head declared, is to encourage quality improvement by rewarding merit in competitive displays, conducted under the farm and home bureaus' supervision.

The state funds available for this purpose total $80,000 for the two years ending June 30, 1931, are appropriated from the license fees and admission taxes collected from the racetracks, along with the funds for the support of the county and other agricultural fairs, and the premiums for the Illinois State Fair.

Hog Raisers Of Lee Save Money

Cheap feeds to go with corn will be used by many Lee county hog raisers. They are going to school to do some figuring for themselves to see what feeds to use. The hog feeding school will be held by the Farm Bureau at Amboy, Illinois, on Thursday, December 12, at 1:30 o'clock.

Prof. E. T. Robbins from the Swine Division of the University of Illinois will assist the Farm Adviser in this school. Farmers who have fed their hogs the university rations report splendid results. Their records show a saving in feed costs of about $2.50 on each hog by using the sanitation system which has been introduced by the University and the Farm Bureau. That is a $5.00 bill made easily on each hog.

Farmers will learn at the feeding school just what materials in feeds are worth buying to add to corn and other farm grains for hogs. They will learn just why pasture in summer and alfalfa hay in winter make money on hogs. They will figure the prices they can afford to pay for various supplementary feeds. Each hog raiser who plans to attend this school should notify the Farm Bureau in advance so that desk or table space can be provided for each man.

Lee Co. Cattlemen To Figure Rations

Many Lee county cattlemen are going to cheapen their feed costs. They are going to use corn with clover, alfalfa or other legumes or grass as the basis for fattening their cattle, and they will buy very little other feed. The way and the why of doing this wil lbe explained in a county beef cattle feeding school which will be held by the Farm Bureau at Amboy, Thursday, December 12th at 10:00 a. m.

The cattlemen will sharpen their pencils and do a little figuring. They will learn just why the cattle fed at the Illinois Experiment Station make big gains and market-topping finish at low cost. They will learn just what ingredients in feeds are worth buying to add to farm grains and roughage for raising calves or for fattening steers.

The Farm Adviser will be assisted in this school by E. T. Robbins, from the Beef Cattle Division of the University of Illinois. Instead of the general discussion which has occupied cattle feeders' meetings in the past, the instruction will be confined to the fundamental principles of combining feeds to make fations which are cheap and efficient. Each cattleman who plans to attend this school should notify the Farm Bureau in advance so that desk or table space can be provided for each man.

BETTER ROADS AS FARMER AID ARE ADVOCATED

Farm Bureau Federation Hears Minnesota Farm Officials

Chicago, Dec. 10 —(AP)—Better roads as one means of aiding farmers in marketing their products were advocated by J. S. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation today.

"In urging better roads, however, I want to emphasize that all-weather farm-to-market roads benefit the entire public not merely the farmers" Mr. Jones declared.

"Changed transportation conditions with the advent of the truck and automobile has brought with it attendant problems. Changed marketing conditions, markting of farm commodities, now begin with the feed lot or granary, where formerly the item of transportation as part of the marketing expense began at the shipping point.

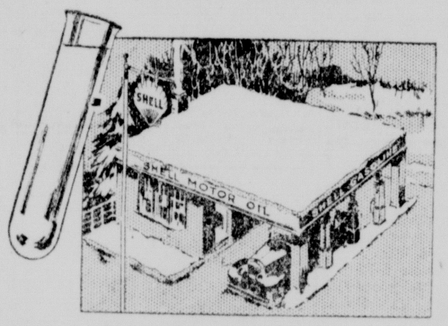

"As a factor in reducing transportation costs through the operation of motor vehicles by having roads we thereby reduce marketing costs," Mr Jones continued.

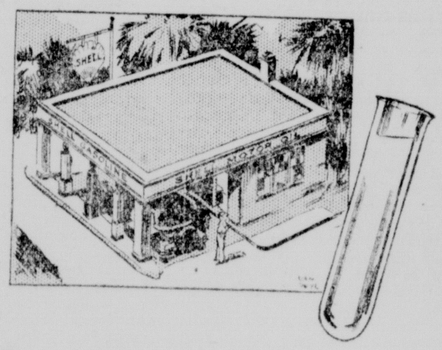

"Farmeers are paying approximately one-third of the automobile license tax, in addition to their gas tax When roads are blocked from the farm to the trunk highway, the villages and townships are affected accordingly. Farm children are not able to attend school, farm families cannot attend the village or city church, the supply of milk, eggs and produce for city people are seriously threatened with only a fair weather road system in operation."

Mr. Jones declared that one of the best possible methods for obtaining good farm roads is by using one-third of the gas tax to improve secondary county roads. He asserted that the plan has proved successful with the farmers of Minnesota and is adaptble to any state having a gasoline tax.

FALL OF CANTON SEEMS IMMINENT AS REBELS MOVE

Foreign Officials In Precautionary Efforts Today

BULLETIN

Canton, Dec. 10—(AP)—Chang Fak-Wei's revolting "Ironsides" division knocked at the doors of Canton today after a precipitate overnight advance which brought them near the city. Artillery fire was plainly audible.

The rebels apparently have broken the government lines on a wide front. Rumors circulated that the fall of Canton was imminent. The utmost uneasiness resulted in native circles.

BULLETIN

Manila, P. I., Dec. 10—(UP)—The United States cruiser Pittsburgh, with Admiral Charles McVay aboard, departed at midnight for Shanghai to protect American interests during the present Chinese crisis.

The Pittsburgh was preceded out of Manila by six destroyers of the 39th American division—the McCormick, Bulmer, Simpson, MacLeish, Edsall and Parrott.

BY RANDALL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Shanghai, Dec. 10—(UP)—Precautionary moves by foreign governments to protect their citizens and extensive troop movements belied today the claims of General Chiang Kai-Shek that the Nationalist government was in complete control of the series of revolutions which are threatening the Nanking central government of China.

French concession authorities at Shanghai today began the erection of barbed wire barricades at the entrances to Chinese territory. The measure was announced as only precautionary for the protection of French citizens.

The British aircraft carrier Hermes was enroute to Shanghai from Hong Kong bearing 560 British troops to reinforce the three warships already here.

Situation Eased

The situation, which yesterday appeared serious with the arrival of several British and Americans fleeing from Nanking appeared to have eased considerably today.

Two divisions of Nationalist troops have entered Nanking to assist in the preservation of order there, especially in the resumption of service on the Shanghai-Nanking rail line which twice has been interrupted by removal of the tracks by rebels.

Points on the Yangtse river reported restoration of normal conditions and that no general foreign evacuation had been ordered, although foreign residents had left and proceeded down the river as precautionary measures.

Say Rebels Retreat.

The situation at Ichang was reported quiet, dispatches received here said the rebels had retreated 20 miles. Ichang several hundred miles up the Yangtse river, and an important trading center in western Hupeh province, has been one of the key cities of the latest rebellion against the nationalist government.

Ichang officials said foreign residents never were in danger and that only a few had boarded ships preparatory to a possible speedy evacuation.

It was estimated 100 American women and children had evacuated Nanking on various steamships together with some British subjects. Many of the Americans were missionaries. The city was quiet.

Previous dispatches from Shanghai indicated Chiang Kai-Shek was concentrating his forces in the provinces of Kiangsi and Chekiang, even ordering the withdrawal of 7,000 tooops from the Canton district where that important port is threatened by a combined attack of General Chang Fa-Kwei's Ironsides divisions and the revolutionary Kwangsi troops from the west. Twenty-one thousand additional Nationalist troops were expected from Hankow in the concentration move. Fourteen thousand troops already have arrived at Nanking from Hankow.

General Tang Seng-Chi with 35,000 anti-Nationalists was reported to have reached Singyang, 160 miles north of Hankow and expected to enter the city without resistance.

ILLINOIS:

Champaign—Frank Morris of Peru, Ind., was shot and killed last night by police with a machine-gun, when he refused to halt at a police ambush laid here for a car stolen in Decatur. William Moore of Bloomington, Ind., in the car with Morris, was captured, unhurt, Morris had 13 bullet wounds.

Cairo—N. M. Guam, 34, a civil enginer employed on levee construction here, died yesterday of injuries received Sunday night when he drove his automobile into a street car. He came here from Cincinnati.

Champaign—Vernie Katz of Effingham, Ill., and Charles Cappy Anderson of Arthur, Ill., waived examination and were bond over to the grand jury in $25,000 bail yesterday. They were brought back from Los Angeles, Cal., on charges of having been two of the five who help up the Henry H. Harris home here Nov. 9. Two others are already in jail. The fifth was shot and killed.

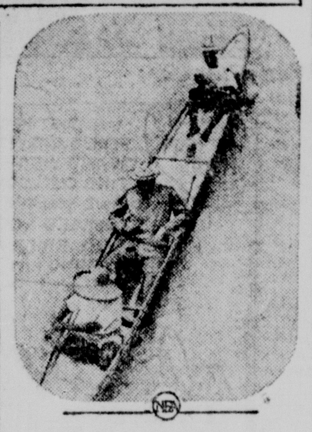

Chicago—Earl Campbell, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Washington, has not concluded his negotiations with Jimmy Phelan, Purdue football coach, looking to Phelan's engagement by the coast college. But neither has Phelan agreed to the reoprted terms of $15,000 a year on a five-year contract, it was said yesterday.

Chicago—Morris Hildebrandt and Arthur Golden were held under $60,000 bonds yesterday while police investigated Hildebrandt's story that he had forged the name of Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, to a number of faked government bonds.

Chicago—Mrs. Caroline Robinson

Yes, It's Warm—in Philippines

While his political friends were shivering in Washington, Governor-General Dwight F. Davis was enjoying a vacation in the balmy Philippines, clad in pajama-like costume. He is shown in the center above with Sir Cecil Clementi, governor-general of Hongkong, left, who was Davis' guest on a recent excursion to the famous Pagsajan gorge and falls. Davis is shown below in his canoe-shaped boat, a banca, after "shooting" the rapids.

Doss was yesterday granted an annulment of her marriage to James N. Doss, a salesman. She said she married James H. Robinson, an aviator, at Miami, Okla., in 1921 and that four years later his mother wrote that he was dead. Married again, last year she saw Robinson at an Oklahoma airport. Her counsel indicated that she will now seek and re-marry Doss.

Rockford Artist's Painting Honored

Chicago, Dec. 9 — (AP) — An oil painting entitled "Early Morn," by Leon Lundmark, Chicago artist, won first prize in the first Scandinavian-American art exhibit which closed last night. First prize was $100. The second prize, $50, was awarded to Einar Lundquist of Rockford, Ill., and the first prize in sculptory went to Oscar I. W. Hansen of Chicago.

Approximately 200 exhibits from nine states were entered. Most of the prize winners were Chicagoans.

Judge Lindsey Was Disbarred By Court

Denver, Dec. 10—(AP)—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, former Denver Juvenile Court judge, Monday was disbarred by the Colorado State Supreme Court on charges of professional misconduct, embracing acceptance of fees while he was judge.

Brookhart Ignored By Grand Jurors

Washington, Dec. 9 —(AP)—The grand jury today decided to ignore testimony by Senator Brookhart of Iowa relative to the "Wall Street booze" party given by Walter Fahy, New York broker, to new members of Congress in 1926, at which Brookhart said liquor was served.

Suit Against M. W. A. Dismissed in Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa, —(AP)—Suit to enjoin the Head Camp of the Modern Woodmen of America from attempting to establish increased insurance assessments for members was dismissed in Federal distirct court by Judge C. A. Dewey. He held that Illinois courts should determine the question, inasmuch as Illinois is the home state of the lodge.

OPPOSITION TO U. S. ADHERENCE TO WORLD COURT

Determined Fight To Be Waged In Upper Branch

Washington, Dec. 10 —(AP)—Opposition to the new plan for American entry into the World Court, as determined as that which met the original proposal for the adherence of the Washington government, is developing in the Senate.

The group of Senators that three years ago voted against the United States becoming allied with the international tribunal, even under the reservations then attached, is apparently as much dissatisfied with the new arrangement as it was with the old.

New protocols of American adherence was signed yesterday at Genva on behalf of the Washington government. It is expected that President Hoover will not submit them for ratification until after Secretary Stimson returns from the London naval limitation conference.

The old Senate objection, as expressed in its famous fifth reservation, would have made it impossible for the court to entertain a request for an advisory opinion on a question in which the United States might have or claim an interest without American consent. This stipulation was unacceptable to the nations affiliated with the court and they refused to admit the Washington government upon such a condition.

Last spring, however, a modification of court methods was affected, designed to give the United States a voice in requests for advisory opinions. Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations committee, Senator Johnson of California, the ranking Republican on the committee, and Senator Moses of New Hampshire, have expressed outspoken opposition to the new arrangement. They were prominent in the fight against participation three years ago.

Now, All Together, Folks!

POET'S CORNER

NOVEMBER

November, like a hopeless maid,
Doth wander all the day,
With veiled face, in mourning robes,
And weep her soul away.

And Oh! It grieves me all the night
To hear her sob and moan!
And when the dreary dawn appears,
She utters but a groan.

And even when she strives to smiles
Our hearts are touched with pain;
For ah! We see nor joy nor hope
Can come to her again.

Poor broken-hearted! It is well
That she can weep and sigh;
For what is left her, but to count
The fallen leaves drift by!—

To vainly pause in barren woods.
The missing birds to hear,
And vainly search for living flowers
Through all the valleys drear!

And soon beside the frozen streams,
To, faintaing drop and die
While snow and sleet are falling fast
From out a dismal sky!

Three Bandits Shot By Waiting Police

Shakopee, Minn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Three bank bandits were shot and probably fatally wounded today when police officers, lying in wait for them, opened fire with a machine gun as the robbers left the First National Bank here.

Oil Explosion Was Fatal To Three Men

Everett, Mass., Dec. 10—(AP)—Three men were burned to death Monday in an explosion at the plant of the Trimount Oil Company. Several others were severely injured.

Second Sentence For Rifling Mails

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 9—(UP)—Already serving a sentence for violation of the Dyer act, Hubert A. Newlin, 25, Robinson, Ill., faced an additional sentence today after pleading guilty in federal court here to rifling the mails.

Newlin, serving a year term in the Federal Industrial Reform School at Chillicothe, O., was given another year term when he admitted he broke into the mail box of W. S. Correll, Robinson, and obtained $59 in checks in April, 1928.

Prohibition Party Split By Friction

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—Friction in the ranks of the Prohibition party was disclosed today in the calling together of the Nationl Committee at Columbus, O., tomorrow over the protest of D. Leigh Colvin, chairman.

The call was sent out by W. D. Martin of New Jersey, a member of the Executive Committee, and has the support of William F. Varney of Rockville Centre, N. Y., the party's presidential candidate last year.

Mr. Colvin, who advocated the withdrawal of Mr. Varney from the presidential race in favor of Herbert Hoover, has branded the call as "illegal," declaring it was not signed by a majority of the committee. This was denied by Mr. Varney.

British Rum Runner Captured By Patrol

New London, Conn., Dec. 10—(UP)—Seizure of the British oil screw ship, Elizabeth, with 500 cases of liquor aboard was reported in a radio message intercepted at the Coast Guard base here today.

The patrol boat CG-123 of New York reported the capture south of Long Island to Coast Guard Base 2, New York.

Seven prisoners were taken aboard the Elizabeth, the message said. The Elizabeth was being convoyed to New York by the patrol boat.

Little Dog Has Given Magistrate Genuine Problem

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 10—(UP)—The little brown dog with white spots should decide whether he belonged to Mrs. James W. Batten or to Miss Amy Ardol, ruled Police Magistrate J. P. Russ.

"It's easy," said the Magistrate. "That's the way all these cases where two persons claim the same dog are settled."

So Mrs. Batten presented her evidence.

"Come here, Wilhelm," she commanded.

Wilhelm, tail wagging, ran and licked her hand. Then it was Miss Ardol's turn.

"Here, Fannie," she called. "Sit up like a nice doggie."

Fannie sat up and looked happy. The Judge wore a puzzled look.

Then he thought of the famous case King Solomon handled so adroitly.

"Very well," said Magistrate Russ, "we'll cut the dog in half and each can have part."

"Suits me," said Mrs. Batten and Miss Ardol agreed.

The astonished Magistrate asked for a week to think it over.

Confident Order In Haiti Is Established

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, Dec. 10—(AP)—Haiti resumed its normal aspect today confident that there would be no continuation of week-end rioting which cost lives of five natives and more than a score of wounded.

President Louis Borno issued a manifesto charging that ambitious persons wishing a change in the government had caused the disorders. He praised the American forces for the manner in which they performed their duties under the treaty with Haiti.

The President charged that these "ambitious persons" worked principally among the students of the country spreading disquiet and unrest. Families of Americans at Aux Cayes and Jeremie arrived here safely on the naval vessel Woodcock.

Among those arriving on the Woodcock were Mrs. Roy Swink of Stroudsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Berroyer of Pana, Ill., and Mrs. Maumus of New Iberia, La.

Seeks Measure To Rid War Of Profit

Washington, Dec. 9. —(AP)— An amendment to the constitution to permit the drifting of capital and industry by the government in time of war is proposed in a resolution prepared by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas.

Patman said the object of the proposed amendment "is to permit Congress to pass laws taking the profit out of war.

Held in $400,000 Gem Robbery

Atlantic Speed Queen in Drydock

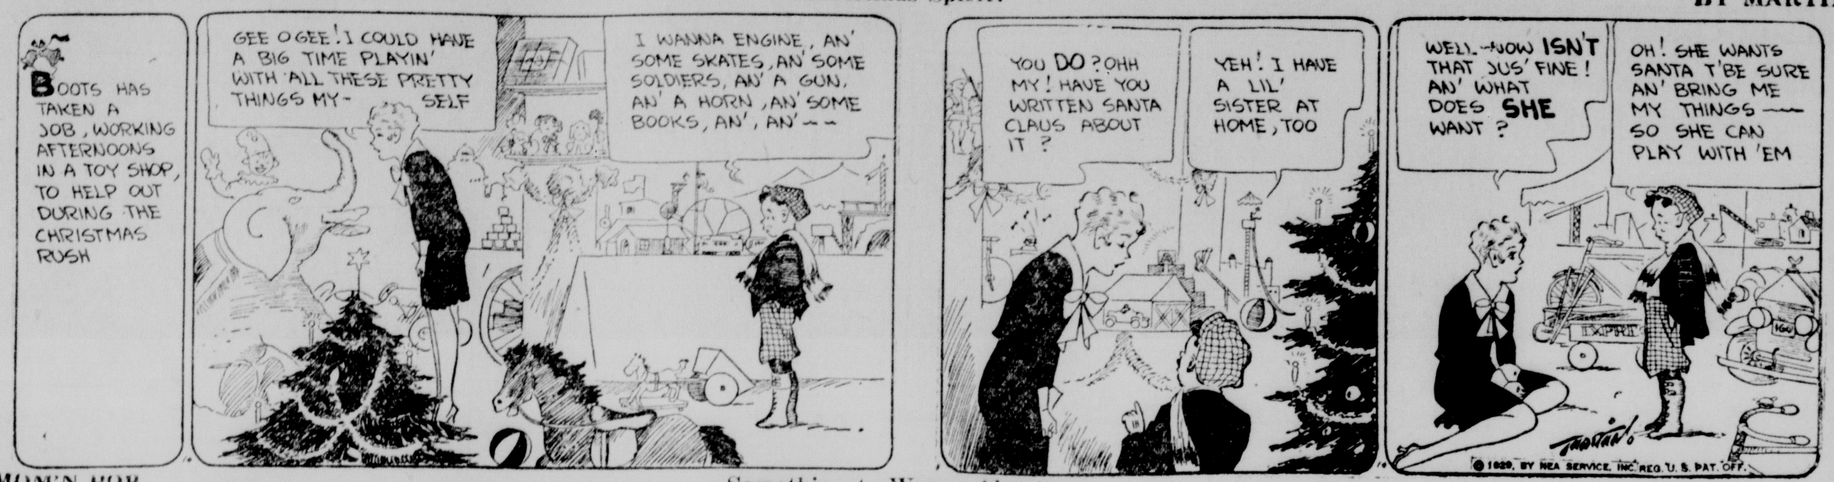

New queen of the seas, the German liner Bremen—fastest ocean steamer and second largest ship in the world—is strikingly pictured above as she appeared in drydock at Southampton, England, for her first winter's overhauling. The three men shown standing beneath the prow give an impression of the vessel's great size, which is exceeded only by the American-owned liner Leviathan. The Bremen holds the record for the fastest Atlantic crossing.

Cupid Halts Marathon Dance

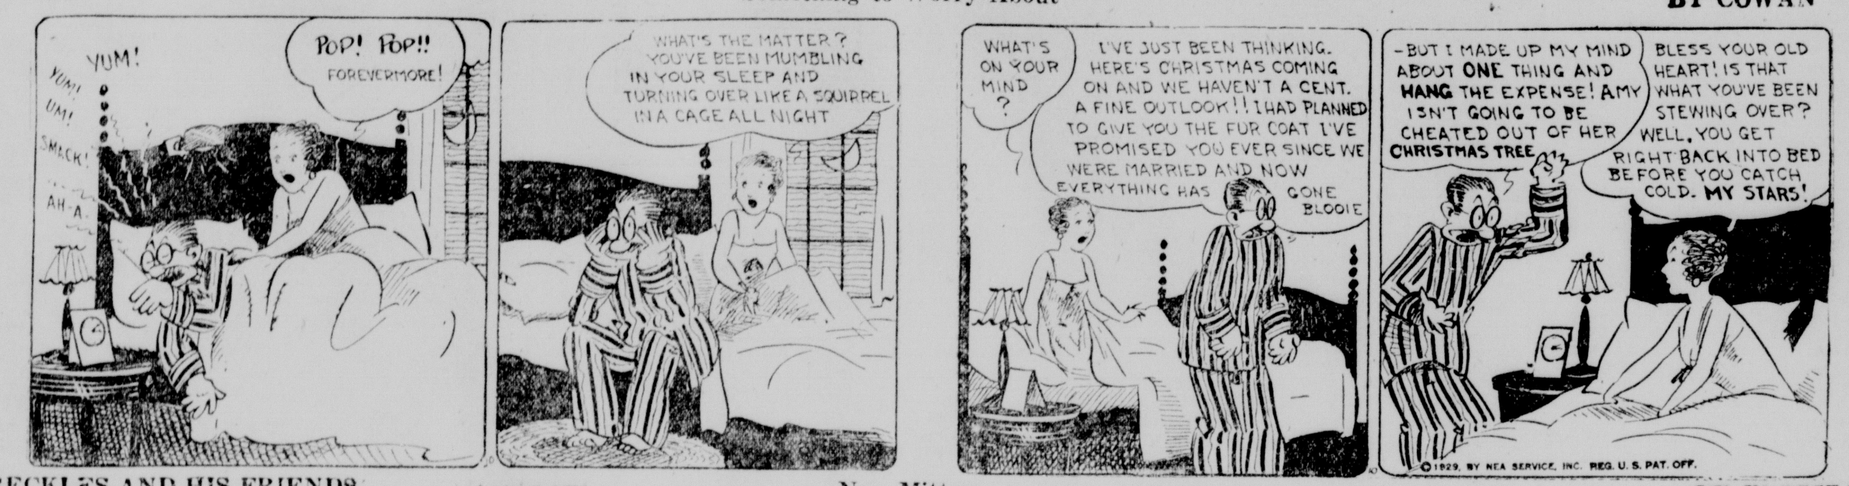

Dan Cupid thought a marathon dance contest at Detroit, Mich., had been going on long enough, so he hurled his love-tipped darts at Billy Slye, 24, and Betty Wood, 22, of Minneapolis. They became engaged and were married during the marathon. The newlyweds are shown above with one of their tiny admirers preparing to cut the wedding cake during an intermission.

Tower Will Guide "Moon Rocket"

From this tall tower, built in a dismal section of Camp Devens, Mass., deserted military reservation, a scientist will try to shoot a rocket to the moon. Prof. R. H. Goddard, of Clark University, is completing the powerful projectile which will be placed upright in the base of the frame before exploding. Extreme secrecy surrounds Goddard's plans for this, his second attempt.

"NOT IN MANY YEARS HAVE I FELT SO FINE"

Peoria Lady Tells How Konjola Quickly Transformed Her Run Down System.

MRS. ELLA RILEY.

"My nerves were in a dreadful state," said Mrs. Ella Riley, 214 Mound street, Peoria. "My stomach, too, was disordered, and bloated after meals. My kidneys were in bad condition and I had severe pains across my back. Constipation was another source of trouble. I was subject to headaches and in spite of all the medicines I gradually grew weaker and lost fifteen pounds.

"I decided to try Konjola, and this new medicine proved to be just what I needed. My appetite is good now and I have no stomach trouble. The back pains have disappeared and my kidneys and bowels are functioning normally. My nerves are calm and I sleep well. My system appears to be swept clear of impurities and I have gained back the fifteen pounds I lost. No wonder I am enthusiastic about Konjola."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, inmate of MRS. RHODES' boarding house, is strangled to death. BONNIE DUNDEE, "cub" detective, assists POLICE LIEUT. STRAWN. EMIL SEVIER, former boarder whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is sought.

CORA BARKER, boarder, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness, but is out on bail. Other boarders under suspicion are: HENRY DOWD, NORMA PAIGE, WALTER STYLES, near bankrupt, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; BERT MAGNUS, amateur scenario writer, and DAISY SHEPHERD.

Dundee learns from papers in Mrs. Hogarth's trunk that the SALLY GRAVES who wrote her once a month was her daughter, and that she lived in dread of Sally's husband, DAN GRIFFIN, sought for embezzlement. Bonnie, recalling mysterious details of Sally's murder in New York June 2, concludes Griffin murdered both women and that he is or has been living in the Rhodes' house.

An old rail-ticket envelope with Dowd's name on it, showing he left New York June 3, increases suspicion. Sevier, captured Tuesday night, insists he did not murder Mrs. Hogarth but implicates Cora. Dundee goes for Cora, who is to confront Sevier, and finds her dead, strangled with her own braids of hair. Sevier is accused of both crimes. Inquest into the death of the two women is held. Daisy is questioned concerning Wheeler, a former boarder. Magnus is called.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

CORONER PRICE'S first half dozen questions brought out Bert Magnus' story of Saturday night. As Dundee listened to the familiar tale he averted his eyes from the sight of Bert's suddenly old and ravaged face. The amateur scenario writer looked as if he had passed through some terrible and blighting illness during the few hours since he had stood beside Cora Barker, singing in his surprisingly good tenor, "Drink to me only with thine eyes!" Occasionally, as he answered the coroner's questions, his voice wavered, and he pressed the fingers of his uncrippled left hand into his temples as if trying desperately to remember things which had now, in comparison with the terrible tragedy of the night before, lost much of their meaning and importance.

When he told how he had become so absorbed in the revision of his scenario, "More to Be Pitied," that he had neglected to keep his appointment with Cora Barker, his voice broke, and tremblingly he took off his glasses to wipe them, holding them awkwardly in his right hand, between the withered fingers and the thumb which had escaped injury.

"I realize," he said unsteadily, "that if I had kept my appointment to meet Miss Barker at the theater last Saturday night, to take her to supper after the last show, she would not have had occasion to go into Mrs. Hogarth's room and would not have become involved in the case as a material witness."

There was a rising murmur of excitement, punctuated by sharp exclamations from reporters, witnesses, and the audience of morbidly curious. For this was the first news the public had had that Cora Barker had been in the murdered woman's room after the crime was committed.

Dr. Price looked somewhat nonplussed at the unsolicited revelation, but asked his next question quietly:

"Did Miss Barker confide in you concerning her visit to Mrs. Hogarth's room, after the murder?"

"She did—as we were walking together to the Little Queen theater on Monday night," Magnus answered, huskily.

"Please tell the jury as nearly as you can remember just what Miss Barker told you," Dr. Price directed, after pounding with his gavel for order in the excited audience.

* * *

BERT MAGNUS restored his pince nez to his nose, touched his little reddish mustache with trembling fingers, then answered in a low voice that was frequently shaken with emotion:

"Cora—Miss Barker—told me she wanted me to know exactly why she had been held as a material witness. She said she had been engaged, in May, to Emil Sevier, and that she had broken the engagement when Sevier had importuned her to help him rob Mrs Hogarth. She had once been a trained nurse and Sevier wanted her to administer a small dose of chloroform to Mrs. Hogarth. To insure her being deeply asleep while the two of them searched her room for the hidden money. As I said, Cora refused, and broke the engagement, but, she admitted frankly, Mrs. Hogarth had seen Sevier leaving Cora's room by the window on the night of May 18—or, rather at two o'clock in the morning of May 19. When I failed to meet her last Saturday night, she became obsessed with the fear that I had met Mrs. Hogarth and that she had told me this bit of scandal against Cora."

"And had you met Mrs. Hogarth?" Dr. Price interrupted.

"I have already told you that I never met or spoke to Mrs. Hogarth in my life," Bert answered with quiet emphasis.

"Very well, Mr. Magnus. Now, why was Miss Barker so concerned over the possibility of your having heard this scandal from Mrs. Hogarth?"

Magnus flushed, but raised his head proudly. "She—valued my good opinion of her."

"Go on!" Price directed curtly, but not unkindly.

"As I said, it was fear that Mrs. Hogarth had gossiped against her to me which made Cora decide to question Mrs. Hogarth when she returned from the theater at 10 minutes after 12 Saturday night. She told me that she knocked on Mrs. Hogarth's door, after having seen that the light was still on, and that when she received no answer she tried the knob and found the door unlocked. She entered and found Mrs. Hogarth dead."

"Did Miss Barker tell you, in confidence, anything to implicate Sevier or anyone else, beyond the fact that Sevier had asked her help in robbing Mrs. Hogarth?"

"No, except that he again asked her that Saturday night, and she again refused."

"She did not tell you that she saw Sevier in the room or at the window on the porch?"

"She did not. I feel sure she did not know any more than she told me," Magnus answered, with a note of pride and faith in his shaken voice.

"Now, Mr. Magnus, you were in private conversation with Miss Barker again on Tuesday evening," Dr. Price continued, and the audience held its breath. "Will you tell the jury the gist of that conversation?"

"I—it was of an extremely private nature," Magnus protested.

"I am afraid it can be private no longer, and I must ask you to answer the question fully and frankly," Dr. Price replied with firm but kindly emphasis.

* * *

DUNDEE, who had been an eavesdropping and unsuspected witness to part of that conversation, leaned forward and listened intently as Magnus answered, unhesitatingly:

"Cora played the piano—we were all in the Rhodes House parlor—and I sang, and—and then we talked. Cora and I. She told me she had been very unhappy—"

He was floundering hopelessly, and Dundee sympathized with his dilemma. How could any man be expected to repeat the tender intimacies which he had overheard between Cora and Bert—the shy half promises, made more by eyes than by lips?

The coroner cleared his throat harshly, and took off his own spectacles to wipe the moisture from the lenses. "I will ask you, Mr. Magnus, if you and Miss Barker became engaged to be married, during that conversation yesterday evening?"

A dull red spread over Bert Magnus' chubby, plain face, but his eyes were steady and his voice unfaltering as he answered:

"Not exactly, in so many words, but I intimated very plainly to Cora that when this bad business—meaning the Hogarth case, of course—was cleared up, and she was free to go where she pleased, I would have something to ask of her. As a matter of fact, I believe I did not even complete the sentence, but Cora understood, and—and we were very happy, looking forward to a future of which we could not even talk until—until—"

"I understand," the coroner cut in hastily. "Now, Mr. Magnus, did Miss Barker tell you why she had been so unhappy?"

Dundee leaned forward tensely. Was Magnus going to introduce Jewel Briggs' name? He remembered very clearly that Cora had cried: "Then you didn't mean what you said to Jewel?"

Then he settled back in his chair, undecided whether to be disappointed that the small mystery concerning Jewel was not to be cleared up, or to admire Bert's chivalry in leaving the girl's name out of the record. For Bert was saying, haltingly:

"I think it was—well, obvious that Cora was sad and humiliated over her arrest as a material witness, and over the gossip connecting her with Emil Sevier."

"Did she mention Sevier's name that evening?" the coroner prodded.

"Yes!" and Bert's voice rang with sorrowing rage. "She said she would sleep more easily if she knew Emil Sevier was safe behind bars—that her dreams were haunted by fears of his coming to avenge himself upon her for the little she had told the police against him."

* * *

THE close-packed audience was suddenly as still as if the wings of death had swept over it. Dundee, sitting between Norma Paige and Daisy Shepherd, saw both girls shiver and huddle lower into their seats.

"Did she definitely say that she had cause to believe Sevier would kill her?" Dr. Price asked at last.

"Not in so many words. I have repeated what she said as nearly as I can remember," Bert answered, his voice breaking. Then, "I begged her to tell her fears to the police, to ask for protection until Sevier was caught. But she refused."

"Did Miss Barker tell you that she believed Sevier to be guilty?"

"She did not express such a belief, but I know she was afraid it was true. She was a—loyal friend, even to a man like Sevier," Bert answered huskily.

"I understand then, Mr. Magnus, that you heard nothing, saw nothing until you opened your door about half past four this morning and saw the stretcher being carried out of Miss Barker's room?"

"That is correct," Magnus answered.

"Will you tell the jury what you said then—the words you addressed to the dead woman when you knew it was her body on the stretcher?"

"I—" Magnus began, then bowed his head in his hands, his shoulders heaving.

"I will ask if these are the words you spoke, Mr. Magnus," and the coroner selected a sheet of young Brede's notes and read aloud: "My poor darling! If you had only let me watch outside your windows, as I wanted to—'"

"Yes, that is what I said," Magnus spoke from behind his shielding hands. "I had told Cora, as we came upstairs together, that if she were really afraid of Sevier, I would stand guard over her. She refused, said there must be no more scandal against her in that house."

"Now, Mr. Magnus, can you tell what awakened you at half-past four this morning?"

"No—I—I really have no idea," Bert stammered. "I dislike the word 'premonition,' but I woke, terrified, sure that something dreadful had happened. It is possible, of course, that I was subconsciously aware of the entry of the police and of the low-spoken conversation of the officers. But I can now recall no definite noise that awakened me. As I have told you, I went to sleep about midnight, and did not awaken at all until half-past four."

"That is all, Mr. Magnus—and may I extend to you the sympathy of myself and this jury? . . . Bring in Emil Sevier," Dr. Price directed, turning brusquely to a patrolman stationed at a door leading into another room of the morgue.

Taxi-Dances $6,000 Away In Two Years

Chicago, Dec. 10—(AP)—Jack New, promised to tell Judge Francis Borelli today how he had taxi-danced $6,000 away in two years—$6,000 that didn't belong to him.

"I never smoked, drank, swore, gambled nor danced in my life," he told police last night after being returned from Memphis, Tenn., "but boy, how I've danced these last two years!"

New was bookkeeper for the Wood-Davis Company which had him arrested for embezzlement of company funds. He is married and has two children.

"I spent that whole $6,000 on taxi dances," he told Sergeant Rudolph Fremont. "I have danced a distance quivalent to several times around the world."

FAT MAKES FAT

By Llewelyn T. Barker, M. D., Baltimore, Maryland

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

You often hear a fat person claim that he is a small eater. But investigations of cases of obesity have led to the conclusion that, regardless of total amount of food, people often grow fat because they eat more fattening foods than they need, use a little of it, and store up the surplus as fat. And the fatter they get, the less food it takes to make them still fatter, for they become progressively less capable of burning up their fat and of radiating heat from their bodies as the weight increases.

Some people can eat much more fattening food than others without becoming fat, for there are great differences in constitutions and in inherited tendencies. Probably the activity of the glands o finternal secretion has much to do with this. Persons in whom the internal secretion of the thyroid gland or the pituitary gland or the generative glands is deficient are particularly prone to become fat. In serious diseases of these glands, the obesity may become extreme and require very careful study to ascrtain the cause in order that special glandular treatment may be applied. But the great majority of persons who are too heavy are so because they eat too much of certain kinds of food or because they lead too sedentary a life. Fat people often say that they eat very little, but a study of what they eat nearly always proves that they are eating too much of certain kinds of food, whereas they might eat much more of other kinds of food and lose weight readily. One difficulty is that persons who are too fat often have a strong liking for the kinds of food that increase their weight—fats, sugars, starches—and feel unhappy if they are required to eat the kinds of food that will lead to a reduction of weight—fruits, fresh vegetables, greens. Many doctors have been told by fat patients that they would rather eat what they like and die happy than to eat what they should eat and live miserably. But these patients do not realize that they are not likely to die happy; before death comes they may have greta misery because of the results of their over-indulgence. Nor do they realize that groying thin is a process that need not make men or women miserable or unhappy if they but go the right way about it.

Some fat people object to reducing their weight because they think they will look old or haggard if they grow thinner. This, too, is a fallacy. Properly managed getting rid of the fat will make them look and feel younger than before, will protect them from many maladies to which obesity predisposes, and may give them many more years of happy and useful life than would be their if they continued to live unhygenically.

If you find yourself growing too heavy, and do not want to class yourself as a coward or a hog, don't try dieting yourself, but let your family doctor look you over regularly, direct your diet, keep you healthy, and make life more worth while than it is to most human monuments of obesity.

Have You a Boiler or Furnace?

Fire it with an Iron Fireman!

FEEDING fuel to your boiler or furnace is no work for a human being. Hand firing should be as obsolete as hand weaving or hand cranking of your automobile.

But the Iron Fireman, unlike most modern improvements, is not an expense but an actual saving. Many users report it the most profitable investment they ever made. It earns large savings through burning lower priced coal, and less of it, through obtaining all the heat from coal, through elimination of smoke, saving of labor, and maintaining steady, even, dependable heat.

The Forced Underfiring principle developed by Iron Fireman is the scientific basis which enables the Fireman to achieve such outstanding results. Ask for a catalog explaining how and why the Iron Fireman is saving millions of dollars for thousands of users throughout America.

☐ Please have an engineer check up on my (.....boiler) (.....furnace) and render report as to possible savings by an Iron Fireman. I understand this involves no obligation on my part.

Three Children Are Killed By Explosion

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 9—(UP)—Threatening blackhand letters and family quarrels over "another woman" provided the only clues police had today in their hunt for a fiendish murderer whose bomb killed three children as they prepared for church.

The bomb, wrapped as a Christmas package, was left on a kitchen table in the home of Joseph Falzone, well-to-do resident of an Italian neighborhood. Three of Falzone's five children found it when they got up yesterday morning. They exclaimed happily as they saw the Christmas trimmings. Mary, 15 and Philip, 13, were instantly killed. Rose, 8, was mortally pierced by steel slugs which the bomb contained.

Falzone, partner in a stone-cutting plant, was held for questioning. He said he returned to the city last night from a hunting trip of several days in Pennsylvania. His story was substantiated by four companions. Falzone swore to kill "those who did this thing."

State Department Needs Dining Room

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The state department needs a dining room of its own and a survey is in progress to determine if, among other things, it can have it.

The Department has long left the lack of state dining and reception rooms. Its need for such chambers was emphasized by the recent visit of Prime Minister MacDonald.

At the direction of President Hoover, a survey is being made to determine the feasibility of turning the entire State War and Navy building over to the State Department, to meet the requirements of its expanding forces.

Rum Runners Strike Ended In a Victory

Amherstburg, Ont., Dec. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Rum runners who went on strike last Friday have won a victory. After 24 hours of idleness while orders piled up for Detroit customers, the exporters conceded the demands of their employes and the men who man the boats will receive $3 for each case of beer and $15 per case of whiskey carried across the river. This figure, the runners say, is little enough, when they are obliged to furnish their own craft.

Army Officer Fell Over Cliff: Is Dead

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 9—(UP)—William F. Russell, 23, of 15 Crescent Street, Montclair, N. J., was killed in a 500 foot fall over the sheer Nuanu Pali cliff near here today.

Russell, who was attached to the Coast Artillery unit here since last May, was a former honor student in chemistry at Cornell, Columbia, and Michigan Universities.

It was believed he had gone too close to the edge of the cliff while hiking and had lost his balance.

Winning Player At Poker Game Is Dead

Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)—The last poker hand Robert Goldman ever will hold in this world was a winning one—two small pairs.

The old man—he was 79—liked to play penny ante. It was at a friend's flat, and when he saw he had shoved forth a nickel bet. The others had nothing, and threw down their hands. Then they saw Goldman was dead.

Year's Salary Will Be Workers' Bonus

New York, Dec. 9—(AP)—As a Christmas bonus 200 employes of Goldman-Sochs, Wall Street brokerage house, are to receive a year's salary, the same as last year. The total will exceed $500,000.

SETTLEMENT OF FRENCH DEBT IS UP TO CONGRESS

House Committee Will Recommend Approval Of Debt Terms

BY WILLIAM H. DOHERTY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Dec. 9—(AP)—Settlement of the French debt, the only war time obligation owing to the United States for which arrangements for payment have not been made, will be taken up tomorrow by the House Ways and Means committee.

Approval of the plan which would provide payment of $4,025,000,000 over a period of sixty-two years, was asked by President Hoover in his annual message. On Thursday, two days after the Executive's recommendations were read, Chairman Hawley of the committee, introduced the bill.

A similar measure is before the Senate, and Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance committee is awaiting action of the House before calling it up. The Senate group already has reported favorably on the bill by a unanimous vote.

The administration's strength in the House indicates quick passage in that body, but in the Senate considerable opposition to the plan is anticipated, its opponents contending that under the settlement the United States would receive only fifty cents on the dollar.

Negotiated three years ago by debt commissions of the two countries, headed by Secretary Mellon and former Ambassador Berenger, the terms were agreed on by the House but the Senate delayed action until France had approved it. That action was taken by France on July 27 of this year.

Under the plan, payments would be graduated upwards annually from $30,000,000 to $113,694,786 in 1988.

Old Ironsides Will Soon Be In Water

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The frigate Constitution, undergoing restoration at the Boston Navy Yard through public subscription, is expected to be ready for the water again some time this month.

The Navy spent $477,873 in restoring the famous ship and has sufficient funds to continue work at the present rate until the end of the year at least. A total of $547,158 has been contributed.

As soon as the hull is floated masts will be installed.
